GILBERT M'MICKEN of Glenwhilly, against ALEXANDER KENNEDY of Glenoure.

No 62. Found as above.

In the charge at the inflance of Gilbert M'Micken of Glenwhilly, against Alexander Kennedy of Glenoure, the Lords found, That a diffressed cautioner paying annualrents, had right by the clause of relief, to require annualrent of the annualrents from the time of payment. 2do, That acts of usury anterior to the Queen's indemnity were thereby discharged, and the informer could have no fhare or benefit, upon the account of information given after the proclamaatio, That the writer of a bond being defigned notar, the defignation was fufficient; for that is not like the general defignation of writer, which every body affumes at pleafure; a notary having a public office, that requires a previous trial and admission by the Lords of Session, and an act to be extracted thereon, by a clerk appointed for that effect, who keeps a particular record of the name, diary, and manner of fubscription of the person admitted. 4to, That a creditor taking affignation from his debtor, to mails and duties not expressly in fatisfaction, and intimating the fame to the tenants, is not obliged to impute the rents in his payment, or instruct exact diligence; unless he had debarred either the debtor or his creditors from intromitting. (See Writ, what Defignation fufficient.—See Diligence, Prestably by Assignees.—See Indemnity.)
