to Mr Man in Norwich, to whom M'Reith was factor, he produces a receipt of L. 600 Sterling from Man, of the sums due to him by Mr M'Neil, with an application thereof by M'Neil to this sum before any diligence; and it is a certain maxim in law, that payment made and accepted indefinitely by a debtor to a creditor, to whom he owes several sums, electio est debitoris, and the debtor may apply the payment to which sum he pleases, and he has done so in this case. It was answered, That the payment could not be ascribed to this bond, being made a day before the day of payment of this bond, but behoved to be ascribed to the other anterior debts, whereof the term was past. 2do, Though ordinarily the debtor has election, that cannot hold here, because the debtor was broken and insolvent before the election, after which he could not to the creditor's prejudice, apply the indefinite payment to a sum secured by caution, and leave the creditor to seek sums unsecured from a bankrupt.

THE LORDS sustained the election by the debtor, if he was solvent and entire the time of the election, albeit the indefinite payment was a day before the term of payment of this bond, to which the debtor had applied it.

1687. November. Smith against James Oswald.

The debtor in a 1000 merks bond having, after the term of payment, paid 700 merks without any application to the bond, or to a quantity of wine resting also by him; and thereafter having received more wine, and applied the payment wholly to the wine, and not to the bond; and the cautioner in the bond being pursued, he alleged upon the payment of the 700 merks, which behoved to be applied to extinguish the bond pro tanto, as the durior sors, especially considering that merchants use to allow year and day for the payment of wines.

Answered, It was in the debtor's power to apply the payment.

THE LORDS found, that the debtor might, ex post facto, apply so much of the 700 merks as effeired to the price of the wines furnished before the payment, unless the term of payment of the wine's price was not come when the money was paid; but that he could not apply it to wine furnished after the said payment, in prejudice of the cautioner in the bond.
