(“the Third Earlier Mark”)

3. The opposition based upon section 5(2)(b) is directed at some of the goods and services for which the applicant seeks registration as underlined in the Annex to this decision. The opponent relies upon all of the goods/services listed above. The opponent claims that there is a likelihood of confusion because the marks are similar, and the goods and services are similar.

4. The opposition based upon section 5(3) is based upon all of the earlier marks and is directed at all of the goods and services for which the applicant seeks registration. The opponent claims a reputation in relation to all of those goods underlined above. The opponent claims that use of the applicant's mark would, without due cause, take unfair advantage of, or be detrimental to, the distinctive character and/or reputation of the earlier marks.

5. Under section 3(6), the opponent claims that the application has been made in bad faith because the applicant does not have a bona fide intention to use the mark for all of the goods and services applied for.

6. The applicant filed a counterstatement denying the grounds of opposition.

7. The applicant is unrepresented, and the opponent is represented by Keltie LLP. Both parties filed evidence. The opponent did not file evidence in reply. Neither party requested a hearing, but both parties filed written submissions in lieu. This decision is taken following a careful perusal of the papers.

EVIDENCE AND SUBMISSIONS

8. The opponent filed evidence in chief in the form of:

- a) The witness statement of Elizabeth May dated 10 December 2020, which is accompanied by 22 exhibits. Ms May is Maison Lead IP Counsel for the opponent.
- b) The witness statement of Alistair Robertson Gay dated 14 December 2020, which is accompanied by 3 exhibits. Mr Gay is the attorney acting for the opponent in these proceedings.

9. The opponent's evidence was accompanied by written submissions dated 15 December 2020.

10. The applicant filed evidence in chief in the form of the witness statement of Temitope Ajala dated 17 March 2021, which is accompanied by 6 exhibits. Mr Ajala is the Director of the applicant.

11. Both parties filed written submissions in lieu dated 25 May 2021.

12. I have taken all of the evidence and submissions into consideration and, whilst I do not propose to summarise them here, I will refer to them below where necessary.

DECISION

Section 5(2)(b)

13. Section 5(2)(b) of the Act reads as follows:

“5(2) A trade mark shall not be registered if because –

(b) it is similar to an earlier trade mark and is to be registered for goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is protected there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, which includes the likelihood of association with the earlier trade mark.”

14. Section 5A of the Act reads as follows:

“5A Where grounds for refusal of an application for registration of a trade mark exist in respect of only some of the goods or services in respect of which the trade mark is applied for, the application is to be refused in relation to those goods and services only.”

15. By virtue of their earlier filing dates, the trade marks upon which the opponent relies qualify as earlier trade marks pursuant to section 6 of the Act. The Second and Third Earlier Marks had not completed their registration process more than 5 years before the filing date of the application in issue and are not, therefore, subject to proof of use pursuant to section 6A of the Act. Whilst the First Earlier Mark is, in principle, subject to the proof of use requirements of section 6A, the applicant did not request that the opponent prove use and, consequently, the opponent can rely upon the full specification for all of the earlier marks.

16. Although the UK has left the EU, section 6(3)(a) of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 requires tribunals to apply EU-derived national law in accordance with EU law as it stood at the end of the transition period. The provisions of the Act relied upon in these proceedings are derived from an EU Directive. This is why this decision continues to make reference to the trade mark case-law of EU courts.

17. The following principles are gleaned from the decisions of the EU courts in Sabel BV v Puma AG, Case C-251/95, Canon Kabushiki Kaisha v Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc, Case C-39/97, Lloyd Schuhfabrik Meyer & Co GmbH v Klijsen Handel B.V. Case C-342/97, Marca Mode CV v Adidas AG & Adidas Benelux BV, Case C-425/98, Matratzen Concord GmbH v OHIM, Case C-3/03, Medion AG v. Thomson Multimedia Sales Germany & Austria GmbH, Case C-120/04, Shaker di L. Laudato & C. Sas v OHIM, Case C-334/05P and Bimbo SA v OHIM, Case C-591/12P:

(a) The likelihood of confusion must be appreciated globally, taking account of all relevant factors;

(b) the matter must be judged through the eyes of the average consumer of the goods or services in question, who is deemed to be reasonably well informed and reasonably circumspect and observant, but who rarely has the chance to make direct comparisons between marks and must instead rely upon the imperfect picture of them he has kept in his mind, and whose attention varies according to the category of goods or services in question;

(c) the average consumer normally perceives a mark as a whole and does not proceed to analyse its various details;

(d) the visual, aural and conceptual similarities of the marks must normally be assessed by reference to the overall impressions created by the marks bearing in mind their distinctive and dominant components, but it is only when all other components of a complex mark are negligible that it is permissible to make the comparison solely on the basis of the dominant elements;

(e) nevertheless, the overall impression conveyed to the public by a composite trade mark may be dominated by one or more of its components;

(f) however, it is also possible that in a particular case an element corresponding to an earlier trade mark may retain an independent distinctive role in a composite mark, without necessarily constituting a dominant element of that mark;

(g) a lesser degree of similarity between the goods or services may be offset by a greater degree of similarity between the marks, and vice versa;

(h) there is a greater likelihood of confusion where the earlier mark has a highly distinctive character, either per se or because of the use that has been made of it;

(i) mere association, in the strict sense that the later mark brings to mind the earlier mark, is not sufficient;

(j) the reputation of a mark does not give grounds for presuming a likelihood of confusion simply because of a likelihood of association in the strict sense;

(k) if the association between the marks creates a risk that the public will wrongly believe that the respective goods or services come from the same or economically-linked undertakings, there is a likelihood of confusion.

Comparison of goods and services

18. In its Form TM8, the applicant states:

“The opponent has claimed that they consider that all goods in classes 3, 25 and services in class 35 in our trade mark application to be identical or similar to those contained in the opponent’s earlier rights. This claim by the opponent insinuates that we are behaving in bad faith, which is completely untrue, the similarity of the goods in our application and the opponents application is a mere matter of coincidence as opposed to a case of untoward behaviour on our part.” (my emphasis)

19. It appears from this statement that the applicant accepts that there are at least some points of overlap between the parties’ respective specifications. However, the applicant has not elaborated upon which goods/services it considers to be similar. Similarly, in its Form TM7, the opponent has stated only that “the Class 3, 18 and 25 goods of the earlier mark are identical and/or similar to those in Classes 3 and 25 of the opposed application and similar to the Class 35 services of the opposed application”. The opponent has not expanded upon the degree to which it considers particular goods/services to be similar. Consequently, I must undertake a full comparison.

20. In Gérard Meric v Office for Harmonisation in the Internal Market, Case T- 133/05, the General Court (“GC”) stated that:

“29. In addition, the goods can be considered as identical when the goods designated by the earlier mark are included in a more general category, designated by trade mark application (Case T-388/00 Institut für Lernsysteme v OHIM – Educational Services (ELS) [2002] ECR II-4301, paragraph 53) or where the goods designated by the trade mark application are included in a more general category designated by the earlier mark.”

21. In the Treat case, [1996] R.P.C. 281, Jacob J. (as he then was) identified the following factors for assessing similarity:

- (a) The respective uses of the respective goods or services;
- (b) The respective users of the respective goods or services;
- (c) The physical nature of the goods or acts of service;
- (d) The respective trade channels through which the goods or services reach the market;
- (e) In the case of self-serve consumer items, where in practice they are respectively found or likely to be found in supermarkets and, in particular, whether they are or are likely to be found on the same or different shelves;
- (f) The extent to which the respective goods or services are competitive. This inquiry may take into account how those in trade classify goods, for instance, whether market research companies, who of course act for industry, put the goods or services in the same or different sectors.

There is also a degree of competition between them. I consider these goods to be highly similar.

29. "Feminine hygiene cleansing towelettes" in the applicant's specification are products impregnated with cleansing properties for hygiene purposes. They will overlap in purpose with "shower and bath gels" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks as both are used for cleaning the body. There will also be overlap in trade channels and user. There may be a degree of competition between the goods. However, I recognise that one being a gel and the other being a towelette will result in a difference in nature and method of use. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to a medium degree.

30. "Hair and body wash" in the applicant's specification will be identical on the principle outlined in Merit to "shower and bath gels" and/or "shampoos" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks.

31. The following terms in the applicant's specification are identical on the principle outlined in Merit to "shampoos, conditioners, hair styling and hair care preparations" in the specifications of the Second Earlier Mark and/or "shampoos, conditioners, hair lotions" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark:

32. I understand “spirit gum for cosmetic use” in the applicant’s specification to refer to a type of adhesive used to attach items such as wigs. Consequently, I also consider this to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “[...] hair styling [...] preparations” in the specifications of the Second Earlier Mark and/or “shampoos, conditioners, hair lotions” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. If I am wrong in this finding then there will be overlap in purpose, method of use, nature, user and trade channels and the goods will be highly similar.

33. I understand the terms “Bay rums” and “Bay rums for cosmetic use” in the applicant’s specification to refer to a product that is used as an aftershave and fragrance. Consequently, I consider these terms to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “eau-de Cologne” and “perfumes” in both the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and “shaving products, namely, shaving and after shave preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Marks.

34. To the extent that “Beard balm”, “Beard care preparations”, “Beard dyes” and “Beard oil” are not identical to “shaving products, namely, shaving and after shave products” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark, I consider that they will overlap in trade channels, nature and user. Consequently, I consider there to be similarity to at least a medium degree.

35. “Beauty masks” appears identically in both the applicant’s specification and the specification of the Second and Third Earlier Marks.

36. The following terms in the applicant’s specification are identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “beauty masks” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks:

Beauty masks for hands; Clay skin masks; Cleaning masks for the face; Cleansing masks; Cosmetic facial masks; Cosmetic facial packs; Cosmetic

37. Clearly “bleaching preparations” could include references to either products intended for use as a cosmetic or for use on the hair. Consequently, I consider the terms “Bleaching preparations”, “Bleaching preparations [decolorants] for cosmetic purposes” and “Bleaching preparations for cosmetic purposes” in the applicant’s specification to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “cosmetics” in both the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and/or “shampoos, conditioners, hair styling and hair care preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark.

38. I consider the following terms to be self-evidently identical or identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “cosmetics” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and/or “makeup preparations, lipsticks, foundations, pencils for the eyes, eyebrow and lips, eye shadows, mascara, eyeliner” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and/or “make-up products, lipsticks, foundations, pencils for the eyes, eyebrows and lips, eye shadow, eye liner, mascara” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark:

39. In my view, the terms “Body mist” and “body splash” in the applicant’s specification refer to a liquid in the form of a spray used to add fragrance to the body. Consequently, I consider that this term is identical on the principle outlined in Merit to “perfumes” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks.

40. The following terms in the applicant’s specification are identical on the principle outlined in Merit to “perfumes” in the specification of the Second and Third Earlier Marks:

Body spray; Body sprays; Body sprays [non- medicated]; Eau de parfum; Eau de toilette; Eau-de-toilette; Eaux de toilette; Floral water; Fragrance preparations; Fragrance sachets; Fragrances; Fragrances for personal use; Fragrant sachets; Liquid perfumes; Perfume; Perfume water; Perfumed water; Perfumeries; Perfumery; Perfumery and fragrances; Perfumery products; Perfumes; Perfumes in solid form; Scented water; Scents; Solid perfumes; Synthetic musk; Synthetic perfumery; Synthetic vanillin [perfumery]; Vanilla perfumery.

41. The following terms in the applicant's specification are identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "dentifrices" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks:

Chewable dentifrices; Chewable tooth cleaning preparations; Cleaning dentures (Preparations for -); Cleaning preparations for the teeth; Dental polish; Dental rinses for non-medical purposes; Dental rinses, non medicated; Dentifrice; Dentifrice powder; Dentifrices; Dentifrices and mouthwashes; Dentifrices in the form of chewing gum; Dentifrices in the form of solid tablets; Denture polishes; Dentures (Preparations for cleaning -); Disclosing tablets for personal use in indicating tartar on the teeth; Gargles, not for medical purposes; Liquid dentifrice; Moistened tooth powder; Mouth washes; Mouth washes, not for medical purposes; Mouthwash; Mouthwashes; Mouthwashes, not for medical purposes; Non-medicated dental rinse; Non- medicated dentifrices; Non-medicated mouth rinse; Non-medicated mouth sprays; Non- medicated mouth washes; Non- medicated mouthwashes; Non-medicated toothpaste; Oral hygiene preparations; Preparation for cleaning dentures; Preparations for cleaning dentures; Preparations for cleaning teeth; Preparations for cleaning the teeth; Solid toothpaste tablets; Spray cleaners for freshening athletic mouth guards; Swallowable toothpaste; Teeth cleaning lotions; Teeth cleaning (Preparations for -); Tooth care preparations; Tooth cleaning preparations; Tooth gel; Tooth paste; Tooth polish; Tooth polishes; Tooth powder; Tooth powder [for cosmetic use]; Tooth powders; Tooth powders [for cosmetic use]; Toothpaste; Toothpaste in soft cake form; Toothpastes.

42. The following terms in the applicant's specification all overlap in user, purpose and trade channels with the term "dentifrices" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks:

Breath freshener; Breath fresheners; Breath fresheners, not for medical use; Breath freshening liquid; Breath freshening preparations; Breath freshening preparations for personal hygiene; Breath freshening sprays; Breath freshening strips; Breath freshening sprays; Dental bleaching gel; Dental bleaching gels; Gels (Dental bleaching -); Mouth [breath] fresheners, not for medical use;

Mouth sprays, not for medical use; Sets of cosmetic oral care products; Teeth whitening preparations; Teeth whitening strips; Teeth whitening strips impregnated with teeth whitening preparations [cosmetics]; Throat sprays [non-medicated]; Tooth whitening creams; Tooth whitening pastes; Tooth whitening preparations.

They do not have the same purpose as the applicant's goods are intended for freshening the breath or improving the appearance of teeth, whereas the opponent's are intended for cleaning the teeth. There will also be a difference in method of use and nature. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to a medium degree.

43. The following terms in the applicant's specification are self-evidently identical or identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "eau-de-Cologne" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks.

Cologne; Cologne water; Colognes; Eau de cologne; Eau de Cologne; Eau de cologne [cologne water]; Eau de colognes; Eau-de-cologne; Eaux de cologne; Eaux de Cologne.

44. "Cologne impregnated disposable wipes" in the applicant's specification refers to wipes impregnated with a fragrance for use on the body. In my view, this will be highly similar to "cologne" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks which is typically provided in liquid form. The goods will overlap in purpose, user and trade channels. I recognise that they will differ in nature and, whilst there may be some overlap in method of use to the extent that they are both applied to the body, their differences in nature (liquid vs wipes) will inevitably result in some difference in application. I recognise that there may be a degree of competition between the goods. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to between a medium and high degree.

45. The following terms in the applicant's specification are all identical on the principle outlined in Meric to the terms "perfumes" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and/or "face, body and hand creams, milks, lotions, gels and powders

(cosmetics)” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “creams for the face, body and hands, milks, lotions, gels and powders (cosmetics)” in specification of the Third Earlier Mark:

Perfumed body lotions [toilet preparations]; Perfumed creams; Perfumed lotions [toilet preparations]; Perfumed oils for skin care; Perfumed powder; Perfumed powder [for cosmetic use]; Perfumed powders; Perfumed powders [for cosmetic use].

46. The terms “perfumed toilet waters”, “scented toilet waters” and “toilet waters” in the applicant’s specification are identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “toilet water” in the specifications of the Second Earlier Mark and “toilet waters” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark.

47. I consider that nailcare products would be regarded as cosmetic items. I consider that there would be overlap in trade channels, user and purpose between the following goods and “cosmetics” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and/or “nail varnish” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and/or “nail polish” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. I recognise that the nature and method of use may differ. However, taking all of this into consideration, I consider the following terms to be similar to a medium degree:

Abrasive boards for use on fingernails; Abrasive emery paper for use on fingernails; Abrasive paper for use on the fingernails; Abrasive preparations for use on the body; Adhesives for affixing artificial fingernails; Adhesives for affixing false nails; Adhesives for artificial nails; Adhesives for fixing false nails; Artificial fingernails; Artificial fingernails of precious metal; Artificial nails; Artificial nails for cosmetic purposes; Cosmetic nail care preparations; Cosmetic nail preparations.

48. “Cuticle conditioners”, “Cuticle cream”, “Cuticle oil”, “Cuticle oils” and “Lotions for strengthening the nails” in the applicant’s specification are all products that are applied to the skin around the nail to improve its condition. Consequently, I consider these products to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “face, body and hand creams, milks, lotions, gels and powders (cosmetics)” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “creams for the face, body and hands, milks, lotions, gels and powders (cosmetics)” in specification of the Third Earlier Mark.

49. The Collins English Dictionary defines “cosmetics” as “beauty preparations; make-up”.<sup>3</sup> In my view, this term in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks could include the following terms in the applicant’s specification:

Artificial eyelashes; Body art stickers; Body glitters; Body paint (cosmetic); Body paint for cosmetic purposes; Body polish; Decorative transfers for cosmetic purposes; Double eyelid tapes; Eye compresses for cosmetic purposes; Eyebrows [false]; Eyelashes; Eyelashes (Adhesives for affixing false -); Eyelashes (False - ); Face and body glitter; Face glitter; False eyelashes; Glitter for cosmetic purposes; Glitter in spray form for use as a cosmetics; Henna; Henna [cosmetic dye]; Henna for cosmetic Purposes; Henna powders; Liquid latex body paint for cosmetic purposes; Self-adhesive false eyebrows.

Consequently, I consider the goods to be identical. If I am wrong in this finding, then the goods will still overlap in user, purpose, method of use and nature. I also consider that there will be overlap in trade channels. There may also be a degree of competition as, for example, the user may select either a mascara to enhance the appearance of eyelashes or, alternatively, may choose to apply false eyelashes. Consequently, I consider these goods to be highly similar.

50. I also consider the same to be true of the following goods in the applicant’s specification:

Adhesives for affixing artificial eyelashes; Adhesives for affixing false eyebrows; Adhesives for affixing false eyelashes; Adhesives for cosmetic purposes; Adhesives for cosmetic use; Adhesives for false eyelashes, hair and nails.

These will overlap in user, purpose, method of use and trade channels to “cosmetics” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks. Consequently, I consider these goods to be similar to at least a medium degree.

51. The following terms in the applicant’s specification all include types of make-up remover and/or cleansers:

Baby wipes; Baby wipes impregnated with cleaning preparations; Cleaning pads impregnated with cosmetics; Cloths impregnated with a skin cleanser; Cosmetic-impregnated tissues; Cotton puffs impregnated with make-up removing preparations; Cotton wool impregnated with make-up removing preparations; Cotton wool in the form of wipes for cosmetic use; Disposable wipes impregnated with cleansing compounds for use on the face; Eye makeup remover; Eye makeup remover; Eye make-up removers; Facial wipes impregnated with cosmetics; Impregnated cleaning pads impregnated with cosmetics; Impregnated cloths for cosmetic use; Impregnated tissues for cleaning [non-medicated, for use on the person]; Lotions (Tissues impregnated with cosmetic -); Make up removing preparations; Make-up remover; Make-up removers; Make-up removing creams; Make-up removing gels; Make-up removing lotions; Make-up removing milk; Make-up removing milks; Make-up removing preparations; Moist paper hand towels impregnated with a cosmetic lotion; Moist wipes for sanitary and cosmetic purposes; Moist wipes impregnated with a cosmetic lotion; Paper hand towels impregnated with cosmetics; Pre-moistened cosmetic tissues; Pre-moistened cosmetic towelettes; Pre-moistened cosmetic wipes; Tissues impregnated with a skin cleanser; Tissues impregnated with cosmetic lotions; Tissues impregnated with cosmetics; Tissues impregnated with essential oils, for cosmetic use; Tissues impregnated with make-up removing preparations; Wipes impregnated with a skin cleanser.

These will be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “make-up removing preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “make-up removing products” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark.

52. In respect of “cleaner for cosmetic brushes” in the applicant’s specification, such goods are likely to be sold in the same or similar aisles in general retailers as cosmetics (such as supermarkets) and, in my experience, it is not uncommon for specialist beauty brands to sell make up, make up brushes and make up brush cleaners. The goods clearly differ in nature, method of use and purpose, although I recognise that there is overlap in user. They are also likely to be complementary.<sup>4</sup> Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to at least a medium degree.

53. The following terms in the applicant’s specification refer to items made of cotton that can be used to apply make up or make up remover:

All-purpose cotton buds for personal use; cosmetic cotton wool; Cotton balls for cosmetic purposes; Cotton buds for cosmetic purposes; Cotton for cosmetic purposes; Cotton puffs for cosmetic purposes; Cotton sticks for cosmetic purposes; Cotton swabs for cosmetic purposes; Cotton wool balls for cosmetic use; Cotton wool buds for cosmetic use; Cotton wool for cosmetic purposes; Lint for cosmetic purposes; Make-up pads of cotton wool.

These are, in my view, complementary to “cosmetics” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks and/or “make-up removing preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “make-up removing products” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. There is overlap in user and trade channels. The goods are likely to be sold in the same or similar aisles of general retailers such as supermarkets. I recognise that the nature, method of use and purpose of the goods differ. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the goods to be similar to a medium degree.

54. “Camouflage cream”, “Face paint” and “face paints” in the applicant’s specification will overlap in nature and purpose with the opponent’s “cosmetics” to the extent that both are substances typically applied to the face. However, they differ in purpose in that cosmetics tend to be applied to enhance the natural appearance, whereas face paints or camouflage products tend to be applied to alter or conceal someone's appearance. In the absence of any evidence to the contrary, I do not consider it likely that there will be any meaningful overlap in trade channels, over and above both being available through general retailers (such as supermarkets). The users will inevitably overlap, as will the method of use. I do not consider the goods to be complementary or in competition. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to between a low and medium degree.

55. Similarly, whilst I recognise that "fake blood" in the applicant's specification may be applied to the body in a similar way to cosmetic products, they differ in purpose and trade channels. There may be a degree of overlap in nature, user and method of use. I do not consider the goods to be in competition or complementary. Consequently, I consider the goods to be similar to between a low and medium degree.

56. In my view, the term "perfumery products" in the specification of the First Earlier Mark is broad enough to cover not only perfumes intended for use on the body, but also perfumes for use in other settings (such as, for example, the household). Consequently, I consider this term will be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to the following terms in the applicant's specification:

Air fragrance preparations; Air fragrance reed diffusers; Air fragrancing preparations; Aromatherapy pillows comprising potpourri in fabric containers; Aromatic potpourris; Fragrance emitting wicks for room fragrance; Fragrance for household purposes; Fragrance refills for non-electric room fragrance dispensers; Fragrance sachets for eye pillows; Fragrances for automobiles; Fumigating incenses (Kunko); Fumigation preparations [perfumes]; Geraniol; Geraniol for cosmetic purposes; Geraniol for cosmetic use; Geraniol for fragrancing; Geraniol fragrancing compounds; Household fragrances; Incense; Incense cones; Incense sachets; Incense spray; Incense sticks; Ionone [perfumery]; Lavender water; Linen (Sachets for perfuming - ); Perfumed potpourris; Perfumed sachets; Perfumed tissues; Perfumes for cardboard; Perfumes for ceramics; Perfumes for industrial purposes; Perfuming preparations for the atmosphere; Perfuming sachets; Pomanders; Pomanders [aromatic substances]; Pot pourri; Potpourri; Pot-pourri; Potpourri sachets for incorporating in aromatherapy pillows; Potpourris; Potpourris [fragrances]; Reed diffusers; Refills for electric room fragrance dispensers; Room fragrances; Room fragrancings preparations; Room fragrancings products; Room perfume sprays; Room perfumes in spray form; Room scenting sprays; Scented ceramic stones; Scented fabric refresher spray; Scented fabric refresher sprays; Scented linen sprays; Scented linen water; Scented pine cones; Scented room sprays; Scented sachets; Scented wax melts; Scented wood.

57. I understand the terms “dhoop” and “joss sticks” in the applicant’s specification to also be a reference to types of incense products. Consequently, for the same reason I consider this term to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “perfumery products” in the specification of the First Earlier Mark.

58. Although the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks contain some broad terms such as “cosmetics” and “shampoos” and “dentifrices” I do not consider that on the ordinary reading of these terms they would be taken to include goods intended for use on anything other than the human body. Consequently, I consider it unlikely that they would be identical to such goods intended for use on animals. However, there will still be overlap in nature, method of use and purpose. The user is likely to overlap as both will be purchased by members of the public. However, I do not consider it likely that there will be any meaningful overlap in trade channels. Consequently, I consider the following terms in the applicant’s specification to be similar to a medium degree to “cosmetics”, “dentifrices” and “shampoos” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks:

Animal grooming preparations; Bath preparations for animals; Conditioning sprays for animals; Cosmetics for animals; Non-medicated mouth washes for pets; Non-medicated pet shampoos; Odour fresheners for animals; Preparations and products for fur care; Shampoo for animals; Shampoos for animals [non-medicated grooming preparations]; Shampoos for pets; Shampoos for pets [non-medicated grooming preparations]; Skin care products for animals.

59. The following terms in the applicant's specification are identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "nail polish" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark and "nail varnish" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark:

Nail base coat [cosmetics]; Nail care preparations; Nail cosmetics; Nail enamel; Nail enamels; Nail gel; Nail makeup; Nail paint [cosmetics]; Nail polish; Nail polish base coat; Nail polish pens; Nail polish top coat; Nail primer [cosmetics]; Nail varnish; Nail varnish for cosmetic purposes; Nail varnishes; Varnish (Nail - ).

60. In my view, "nail varnish" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "nail polish" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark will overlap in trade channels with other nail products; such goods are likely to be sold in the same or similar aisles in general retailers (such as supermarkets) and are also likely to be sold by the same specialist undertakings. There will be overlap in user, purpose, method of use and nature. There may also be a degree of competition or complementarity in some cases. Consequently, I consider these terms to be similar to the following terms in the applicant's specification to a high degree:

Cuticle removers; Cuticle removing preparations; Decalcomanias for fingernails; False fingernails; False nails; False toenails; Fingernail decals; Fingernail overlay material; Fingernail sculpturing overlays; Fingernail tips; Gel nail removers; Glue for strengthening nails; Nail art stickers; Nail buffing preparations; Nail conditioners; Nail cream; Nail decolorants; Nail enamel remover; Nail enamel removers; Nail glitter; Nail hardeners; Nail hardeners [cosmetics]; Nail polish remover; Nail polish remover pens; Nail polish removers; Nail polish removers [cosmetics]; Nail polishing powder; Nail repair preparations; Nail strengtheners; Nail tips; Nail tips [cosmetics]; Nail varnish remover [cosmetics]; Nail varnish removers; Nail varnish removing preparations; Nail whiteners; Nail-polish removers; Nails (False -); Preparations for reinforcing the nails; Preparations for removing gel nails; Varnish removers; Varnish-removing preparations.

61. A depilatory is something that removes hair from the body. Consequently, the following terms in the applicant's specification are self-evidently or identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "depilatories" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "depilatory products" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark:

Depilatories; Depilatory creams; Depilatory lotions; Depilatory preparations; Depilatory wax; Depilatory waxes; Dewaxing preparations; Epilating waxes; Hair removal preparations; Hair removing cream; Wax strips for removing body hair.

62. "Hair lotions" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "shampoos, conditioners, hair styling and hair care preparations" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark could both include products intended for use on facial hair. Consequently, I consider these terms to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "lotions for beards", "moustache wax", "mustache wax" and "tints for the beard" in the applicant's specification.

63. "Leather preservatives" and "creams for leather" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "preservatives for leather (polishes)" and "creams for leather" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark are self-evidently identical or identical on the principle outlined in Meric to the following terms in the applicant's specification:

Cleaning preparations for leather; Waxes for leather; Boot cream; Boot polish; Boot wax; Cobblers' wax; Leather and shoe cleaning and polishing preparations; Leather bleaching preparations; Leather (Creams for -); Leather dressings; Leather polishes; Leather preservatives; Leather preservatives [polishes]; Leather preserving polishes; Pastes for cleaning shoes; Shoe and boot cream; Shoe black [shoe polish]; Shoe cleaners [preparations]; Shoe cream; Shoe polish; Shoe polish and creams; Shoe polish applicators containing shoe polish; Shoe polishes; Shoe sprays; Shoe wax; Shoemakers' wax; [...] cobblers' wax; Wax (Cobblers' -).

64. The following terms in the applicant's specification all relate to laundry and the care of clothing:

Antistatic sprays for clothing; Anti-static sprays for clothing; Bleaching preparations for laundry use; Cleaning preparations for fabrics; Fabric brighteners; Fabric conditioners; Fabric conditioning preparations; Fabric softener; Fabric softener for laundry; Fabric softener for laundry use; Fabric softeners; Fabric softeners for laundry; Fabric softeners for laundry use; Liquid laundry detergents; Liquid soap for laundry; Liquid soaps for laundry; Soaking laundry (Preparations for - ); Soap for brightening textile; Soaps for brightening textiles; Soaps for laundry use; Substances for laundry use; Synthetic detergents for clothes; Tailors' wax; Tailors' [...] wax; Wax (Tailors' -).

The only apparent point of overlap with the opponent's specifications is the term "clothing" in the specification of the First Earlier Mark and the various clothing-related terms in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks. Whilst I recognise that these goods may be important or indispensable for each other, there is no reason why the average consumer would conclude that they originate from the same undertaking. In the absence of any evidence to the contrary, I see no reason why these goods would be sold through the same retailers other than general retailers (such as supermarkets), where they would be sold in separate aisles. There is no overlap in purpose as the applicant's goods are intended for the care and cleaning of clothes, whereas the opponent's goods are intended to cover and provide warmth to the body. There is clearly no overlap in nature or method of use. I recognise that there is overlap to the extent that both will be purchased by members of the general public. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be dissimilar.

65. "Astringents for cosmetic purposes" in the applicant's specification is something that would be applied to the skin to reduce oil build up. In my view, this will fall within the broader categories of "cosmetics" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Mark and "creams for the face, body and hands, milks, lotions, gels and powders (cosmetics)" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark. These will, therefore, be identical on the principle outlined in Meric.

66. "Artificial pumice stone", "Foot smoothing stones", "Pumice stone", "Pumice stones for personal use", "Pumice stones for use on the body" and "Smoothing stones" in the applicant's specification are items used to remove hard skin, usually from the feet. These will overlap in purpose and trade channels with "face, body and hand creams [...]" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "creams for the face, body and hands [...]" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark as both can be intended to reduce hard skin and soften the feet. They may also be sold through the same trade channels and appear next to each other in aisles in general retailers. There will be a difference in nature and method of use. The users will overlap and there may be a degree of competition. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to at least a medium degree.

67. "Bark (Quillaia -) for washing" and "Quillaia bark for washing" in the applicant's specification are clearly intended as a product used for cleaning the body. They will, therefore, overlap in purpose, method of use, user and trade channels with "toilet soaps" and "shower and bath gels [...]" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks. Clearly, they will differ in nature. I have no evidence before me regarding trade channels. However, on the basis that both goods are intended for personal cleaning it seems likely that they will overlap in retailers such as pharmacies and will be sold close to each other in general retailers. There will be a degree of competition for the same reason. Consequently, I consider there to be between a medium and high degree of similarity between the goods.

68. The following terms in the applicant's specification appear to me to be goods used in the household or industry:

Abrasive cloth; Abrasive compounds; Abrasive emery paper; Abrasive granules; Abrasive paste; Abrasive preparations; Abrasive preparations for polishing; Abrasive rolls; Abrasive sand; Abrasive sanding sponges; Abrasive sheets; Abrasive strips; Abrasives; Adhesive removers; Agents for removing wax; Air (Canned pressurized -) for cleaning and dusting purposes; Ammonia for cleaning purposes; Ammonia [volatile alkali] [detergent]; Ammonia [volatile alkali] detergent; Anti-smear agents for cleaning purposes; Antistatic drier sheets; Antistatic dryer sheets; Anti-static dryer sheets; Antistatic preparations for household purposes; Ash (Volcanic -) for cleaning; Automobile cleaners; Automobile cleaning preparations; Automobile polish; Automobile polishes;

Automobile wax; Automotive cleaning preparations; Buffing compounds; Canned pressurized air for dusting and cleaning purposes; Car cleaning preparations; Car polish; Car shampoos; Car wax; Car wax with a paint sealant; Carbides of metal [abrasives]; Carnauba wax for automotive use; Carpet cleaners; Carpet cleaning preparations; Carpet freshening preparations; Carpet shampoo; Chalk (Cleaning -); Chrome cleaners; Chrome polish; Cleaning and shining preparations for plant leaves; Cleaning chalk; Cleaning preparations for automobiles; Cleaning preparations for use on vehicles; Cleaning preparations impregnated into pads; Cleaning preparations impregnated into tissues; Colour-removing preparations; Corundum [abrasive]; Diamantine [abrasive]; Emery; Emery cloth; Emery paper; Emulsifying solvent cleaners; Eyeglass lens cleaning solutions; Eyeglass wipes impregnated with a detergent; Foam detergents; Fruit and vegetable wash; General purpose scouring powder; Glass cleaners; Glue removers; Granular corundum; Jewellers' rouge; Leaves of plants (Preparations to make shiny the - ); Lime removers; Liquid dishwasher detergents; Liquid floor polishes; Liquid soap for dish washing; Liquids for floors (Non-slipping -); Litter tray cleaners incorporating a deodorizer; Mould removing preparations; Natural floor polishes; Natural floor waxes; Non-slipping liquids for floors; Non-slipping wax for floors; Oil of turpentine for degreasing; Oils for cleaning purposes; Paper hand towels impregnated with cleaning agents; Parquet floor wax; Pine oils for cleaning floors; Plants (Preparations to make shiny the leaves of -); Pre-moistened towelettes impregnated with a detergent for cleaning; Pre-moistened towelettes impregnated with dishwashing detergent; Preparations to make shiny the leaves of plants; Preparations to make the leaves of plants shiny; Prepared wax for polishing; Rinse aids; Scouring liquids; Scouring powders; Scouring preparations; Scouring solutions; Scouring substances; Scrubbing powder; Shampoos for vehicles; Sharpening preparations; Shining preparations being polish; Shining preparations for fruit; Shining preparations for fruits; Shining preparations for plant leaves; Shining preparations [polish]; Shiny (Preparations to make the leaves of plants -); Silicon carbide [abrasive]; Silicon carbide for use as an abrasive; Soaps for household use; Soda (Bleaching -); Solvents for removing paints; Solvents for removing varnishes; Time-release solid drain detergent; Tissues impregnated with preparations for cleaning; Upholstery cleaners; Vehicle cleaning preparations; Vehicle shampoos; Vehicle tyre polish; Wipes incorporating cleaning preparations.

In the absence of any detailed submissions or evidence to assist me, I see no point of similarity with the opponent's specifications. If there is any similarity, then it is only at a low degree.

69. I understand "Hypochloride (Potassium -)", "Javelle water" and "Potassium hypochloride" in the applicant's specification to refer to solutions typically used in cleaning. For the same reasons set out above, I consider these goods to be dissimilar to the opponent's specifications. If I am wrong in this finding, there will be only a low degree of similarity.

70. "Massage creams, not medicated" in the applicant's specification is identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "face, body and hand creams [...]" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "liquid creams for the body" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. Although not identical, the following terms will overlap in use, method of use, trade channels, user and nature with the same terms and may also be in competition:

Facial massage oils; Massage gels other than for medical purposes; Massage gels, other than for medical purposes; Massage oil; Massage oils; Massage oils and lotions; Massage oils, not medicated; Massage waxes; Non-medicated massage preparations.

In my view, these goods are highly similar.

71. I understand "cover sticks" in the applicant's specification to be a reference to a type of concealer in stick form. This will be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "makeup preparations" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and "make-up products" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark.

72. "Eye-washes, not for medical purposes" in the applicant's specification could fall within the broader category of "make-up removing products" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “make-up removing preparations” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark, to the extent that the washes are intended for make up removal. In that respect, I consider the goods to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric. There will also be overlap in user, purpose, method of use, nature and trade channels with “shower and bath gels [...]” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks. I consider these goods to be highly similar.

73. I understand “grinding foils” in the applicant’s specification to be something used in hair styling. Consequently, I consider that these will fall within the broader category of “shampoos, conditioners, hair styling and hair care preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark. These goods are identical on the principle outlined in Meric.

74. I understand “Basma [cosmetic dye]” in the applicant’s specification to be a product typically used in the hair dyeing process. For the same reasons set out above, I consider these goods to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “shampoos, conditioners, hair styling and hair care preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark.

75. I understand heliotropin and piperonal to be products used to add fragrance to perfumes.<sup>5</sup> Consequently, I consider “Heliotropin”, “Heliotropin for cosmetic use”, “Heliotropin fragrancng compounds”, “Heliotropine”, “Piperonal for cosmetic use” and “Piperonal fragrancng compounds” in the applicant’s specification to overlap with “oils for perfumes and scents” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark. These goods will not overlap in nature as the opponent’s goods are oils and the applicant’s goods are chemicals. However, they overlap in use, method of use and purpose as both are used to add fragrance to perfumes and other scented products. There is likely to be overlap in user as both are likely to be used by those involved in producing perfumes and scented products. There may be some overlap in trade channels. There may be some competition as manufacturers could use either product to add a particular scent to perfume. I consider the goods to be highly similar.

76. The term “Hair removal and shaving preparations” in the applicant’s specification is self-evidently identical to “shaving products” and “shaving products, namely, shaving and after shave preparations” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “shaving preparations” and “depilatory products” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark.

77. I understand “Humectant preparations [cosmetics]” and “Humectants” in the applicant’s specification to be products typically used in the manufacturing process, including the manufacture of cosmetics. However, the fact that this is an ingredient of a term covered by the opponent’s specification is not enough on its own for a finding of similarity. I have no evidence before me to suggest that there is any overlap in trade channels. Presumably, the users will differ as the users of cosmetic products will be the general public whereas the users of these ingredients will be manufacturers of cosmetic products. There is no obvious overlap in nature, method of use or purpose. Consequently, I consider the goods to be dissimilar. If I am wrong in this finding then they will be similar to only a low degree.

78. The terms “cosmetic breast firming preparations” and “facial peel preparations for cosmetic use” in the applicant’s specification are likely to include specialised creams and lotions that can be applied to the skin. Consequently, I consider this to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “face, body and hand creams [...]” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “liquid creams for the body” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. If I am wrong in this finding then there will be overlap in method of use, nature, trade channels and user and the goods will be highly similar.

79. I understand the term “phytocosmetic preparations” in the applicant’s specification to include products that use plant materials that can be applied to the skin for cosmetic purposes. Consequently, I consider this term to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “face, body and hand creams [...]” in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and “liquid creams for the body” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. Whilst the nature of “Seaweed for cosmetology” in the applicant’s specification differs in nature to the opponent’s goods, such that they cannot be considered identical, there will be still be a degree of overlap in purpose, method of use, trade channels and user. There may also be a degree of competition. Consequently, I consider these goods to be similar to between a medium and high degree.

80. The term “shower and bath gels [...] (not for medical use)” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks are intended for use in cleaning the body. This overlaps in purpose with “nasal cleaning preparations for personal sanitary purposes” in the applicant’s specification. There will be overlap in nature, method of use and user. There is also likely to be an overlap in trade channels as both could be sold through pharmacies and are likely to be sold near each other in general retailers such as supermarkets. They are neither in competition nor complementary. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to at least a medium degree.

81. A strop is a leather strap or an abrasive strip for sharpening razors.<sup>6</sup> I recognise that razors could be used in conjunction with the opponent’s depilatory and shaving products. However, I consider it unlikely that products used on straps or abrasive strips used for keeping razors sharp will overlap in trade channels with the opponent’s goods. They differ in purpose, method of use and nature. There may be overlap in user, but they will be neither in competition nor complementary. Taking all of this into account, I consider “Pastes for razor strops” and “Razor strops (Pastes for -)” in the applicant’s specification to be dissimilar to the opponent’s specifications. If I am wrong in this finding, then they will be similar to only a low degree.

82. “Non-medicated douches” in the applicant’s specification is an item used in personal hygiene. These are likely to overlap in trade channels with “shower and bath gels [...] (not for medical uses)” in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks, as both are likely to be available from pharmacies and sold near each other in general retailers. The goods will differ in nature and method of use, although there will be some overlap in purpose. The users will overlap. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the good to be similar to a medium degree.

83. I accept that there may be some overlap between the user of the opponent's goods and services and "massage candles for cosmetic purposes" in the applicant's specification. However, there will be differences in nature, method of use, purpose and trade channels. I see no point of competition or complementarity. In the absence of any submissions or evidence to assist me, and taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be dissimilar.

84. "Powder for forming sculpted finger nail tips" in the applicant's specification seems to me to be a product used in the production of false nails. I have no evidence to suggest that there is any overlap in trade channels between these component goods and the finished product or any of the cosmetic items in the opponent's specifications. The nature, method of use and purpose will differ, as will the user. I do not consider the goods to be in competition nor complementary. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the goods to be dissimilar. If I am wrong in this finding, then the goods will be similar to only a low degree.

85. "Slimming aids [cosmetic], other than for medical use" and "Slimming purposes (Cosmetic preparations for -)" in the applicant's specification are, in my view, likely to take the form of tablets or consumables. Consequently, I consider the nature and method of use of these goods to differ from those in the opponent's specifications. There will inevitably be overlap in user, as both can be used by members of the public. Whilst there may be overlap in purpose with the opponent's cosmetic goods to the extent that the consumer would use both products with the intention of improving their appearance, the applicant's goods specifically target the desire of the user to reduce their body size. There may be overlap in trade channels with the opponent's cosmetics to the extent that both could be sold through pharmacies. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the goods to be similar to a medium degree.

86. "Sparkling fluid for the body" in the applicant's specification is, in my view, likely to refer to a product applied to the body to add shimmer to the skin, such as a spray product containing glitter. In my view, this would fall within the broader category of "cosmetics" in the specifications of the Second and Third Earlier Marks. If I am wrong in this finding, then there will be overlap in purpose, method of use, trade channels, nature and user. I consider the goods to be highly similar.

87. I note that the applicant's specification includes the term "powders; containing snake oil". In my view, although a semi-colon has been used here, the intention was for a comma to be in its place. In the absence of that finding, the terms are too vague and/or unclear to be capable of interpretation. Consequently, I will proceed on the basis that the term to be considered is "powders, containing snake oil". I have no evidence before me to suggest that such goods would be applied to the body or used in fragrance. Consequently, I see no overlap in trade channels, method of use or purpose with the opponent's class 3 goods. There may be some overlap in user. However, without further information about what such goods could be used for it is impossible for me to make any meaningful finding in this regard. In terms of the nature, there will be overlap with some of the opponent's goods to the extent that all take the form of powder. I see no point of competition or complementarity. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the goods to be dissimilar. If I am wrong in this finding, they will be similar to only a low degree.

88. I note that the applicant's specification contains the term "Transfers (Decorative -) for cosmetic purposes; (Preparations for -)". Again, I assume that a comma was intended to be used between "purposes" and "(preparations...". In my view, this will overlap in trade channels with the opponent's other cosmetic goods as all could be sold through pharmacies or other cosmetic retailers. Similarly, there is overlap in nature, method of use and trade channels. There will also be overlap in user. I consider it unlikely that there will be any competition or complementarity. Taking all of this into account, I consider the goods to be similar to at least a medium degree.

Class 25

89. All of the goods in class 25 of the applicant's specification will be self-evidently identical or identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "clothing", "shoes and footwear", "headgear" and "belts" in the specification of the First Earlier Mark and/or "clothes for women" in the specification of the Second Earlier Mark and/or "clothing for women" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. Even I am wrong in this finding, the goods will overlap in purpose, user, method of use, trade channels and nature and will be similar to at least a medium degree.

Class 35

90. The following terms in the applicant's specification are identical on the principle outlined in Meric to "advertising services" in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark:

Advertising of the goods of other vendors, enabling customers to conveniently view and compare the goods of those vendors; Advertising of the services of other vendors, enabling customers to conveniently view and compare the services of those vendors; Advertising particularly services for the promotion of goods; Advertising services relating to clothing; Advertising services relating to cosmetics; Advertising services relating to jewelry; Advertising services relating to perfumery; Advertising services relating to the sale of goods; Advertising the goods and services of online vendors via a searchable online guide; Advisory services relating to sales promotion; Promoting the goods and services of others over the Internet; Promoting the goods and services of others through advertisements on Internet websites; Promoting the goods and services of others through infomercials; Promoting the goods and services of others via a global computer network; Promoting the goods and services of others via computer and communication networks; Promoting the sale of fashion goods through promotional articles in magazines; Promoting the sale of goods and services of others through promotional events; Promoting the sale of goods and services of others through the distribution of printed material and promotional contests; Promoting the sale of the services [on behalf of others] by arranging advertisements; Promotion, advertising and marketing of on-line websites; Promotion of goods and services for others.

These services are, therefore, identical on the principle outlined in Meric.

91. The following terms in the applicant's specification all relate to incentive and discount schemes:

Administration of a discount program for enabling participants to obtain discounts on goods and services through use of a discount membership card;

Administration of consumer loyalty programs; Administration of customer loyalty and incentive schemes; Administration of incentive award programs to promote the sale of the goods and services of others; Administration of loyalty and incentive schemes; Administration of loyalty programs involving discounts or incentives; Administration of loyalty rewards programmes; Administration of loyalty rewards programs; Administration of loyalty rewards programs featuring trading stamps; Administration of sales and promotional incentive schemes; Administration of sales promotion incentive programs; Administrative loyalty card services; Customer club services, for commercial, promotional and/or advertising purposes; Customer loyalty services for commercial, promotional and/or advertising purposes; Loyalty, incentive and bonus program services; Loyalty scheme services; Management of customer loyalty, incentive or promotional schemes; Organisation and management of business incentive and loyalty schemes; Organisation and management of customer loyalty programs; Organisation of customer loyalty programs for commercial, promotional or advertising purposes; Organisation, operation and supervision of an incentive scheme; Organisation, operation and supervision of customer loyalty schemes; Organisation, operation and supervision of loyalty and incentive schemes; Organisation, operation and supervision of loyalty schemes and incentive schemes; Organisation, operation and supervision of sales and promotional incentive schemes; Organisational consultancy regarding customer loyalty programmes; Organization, operation and supervision of loyalty and incentive schemes; Organization, operation and supervision of sales and promotional incentive schemes; Promoting the goods and services of others by means of a loyalty rewards card scheme; Promoting the goods and services of others through discount card programs; Promoting the goods and services of others through the administration of sales and promotional incentive schemes involving trading stamps; Promoting the goods and services of others through the distribution of discount cards; Promoting the sale of goods and services of others by awarding purchase points for credit card use; Sales promotion for others by means of privileged user cards; Sales promotion for others provided through the distribution and the administration of privileged user cards; Sales promotion for others through trading stamp schemes; Sales promotion through customer loyalty programs.

These are intended to promote the goods and services of others and, consequently, will overlap in purpose with “advertising services” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. There will clearly be overlap in use, nature and method of use. I also consider that there may be a degree of overlap in trade channels. There may also be a degree of competition between different types of promotional services. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the services to be highly similar.

92. “Marketing research in the fields of cosmetics, perfumery and beauty products” in the applicant’s specification is a service that might be provided by advertising companies as a way of targeting promotional activities. Consequently, I consider that there is overlap in trade channels with “advertising services” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. There is also overlap in user, nature, method of use and purpose. Taking all of this into account, I consider the services to be similar to a high degree.

93. I note that the specification of the Third Earlier Mark includes the terms “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and order them in a retail store”, “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, of a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and order them via mail-order sales catalogs or by any means of electronic communication” and “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, of a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and to order them via web sites”. Whilst these are all clearly retail services, they are extremely broad terms as they make no reference to the goods to which they relate. In Praktiker, Case C-418/02, the CJEU made it clear that the type of goods to which retail services relate should be specified. More recently, in SkyKick<sup>7</sup> Arnold LJ considered the correct approach to interpreting broad and/or vague terms. He stated:

“...the applicable principles of interpretation are as follows:

(1) General terms are to be interpreted as covering the goods or services clearly covered by the literal meaning of the terms, and not other goods or services.

(2) In the case of services, the terms used should not be interpreted widely, but confined to the core of the possible meanings attributable to the terms.

(3) An unclear or imprecise term should be narrowly interpreted as extending only to such goods or services as it clearly covers.

(4) A term which cannot be interpreted is to be disregarded.”

94. Whilst the terms in the opponent’s specification are very broad, I do not consider them incapable of being interpreted. It is quite clear, to my mind, that they are references to retail services. Consequently, I do not consider that they should be disregarded but should be interpreted narrowly. Taking this into consideration, I consider these terms to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to the following terms in the applicant’s specification:

Communication media (Presentation of goods on -), for retail purposes; Demonstration of goods and services by electronic means, also for the benefit of the so-called teleshopping and homeshopping services; Mail order retail services connected with clothing accessories; Mail order retail services for clothing; Mail order retail services for clothing accessories; Mail order retail services for cosmetics; Online retail services relating to clothing; Online retail services relating to cosmetics; Online retail services relating to handbags; Online retail services relating to jewelry; Online retail services relating to luggage; Online retail store services in relation to clothing; Online retail store services relating to clothing; Online retail store services relating to cosmetic and beauty products; Presentation of goods on communication media, for retail purposes; Presentation of goods on communications media, for retail purposes; Retail of third-party pre-paid cards for the purchase of clothing; Retail purposes (Presentation of goods on communication media, for -); Retail services connected with the sale of clothing and clothing accessories; Retail services connected with the sale of furniture; Retail services connected with the sale of subscription boxes containing cosmetics; Retail services for works of art provided by art galleries; Retail services in relation to art materials; Retail services in relation to bags; Retail services in relation to beauty implements for humans; Retail services in relation to clothing; Retail services in relation to clothing accessories; Retail services in relation to fashion accessories; Retail services in relation to footwear; Retail services in relation to fragrancings preparations; Retail services in relation to furnishings; Retail services in relation to furniture; Retail services in relation to hair products; Retail services in relation to headgear; Retail services in relation to hygienic implements for humans; Retail services in relation to jewellery; Retail services in relation to luggage; Retail services in relation to smartwatches; Retail services in relation to sun tanning appliances; Retail services in relation to time instruments; Retail services in relation to toiletries; Retail services in relation to umbrellas; Retail services in relation to wearable computers; Retail services in relation to works of art; Retail services relating to clothing; Retail services relating to fake furs; Retail services relating to fragrancings preparations; Retail services relating to furniture; Retail services relating to furs; Retail services relating to home textiles; Retail services relating to jewelry; Retail store services in the field of clothing.

95. I also consider “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and order them in a retail store”, “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, of a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and order them via mail-order sales catalogs or by any means of electronic communication” and “the bringing together, for the benefit of others, of a variety of goods, enabling customers to conveniently view and to order them via web sites” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark to overlap in nature, method of use, purpose, trade channels and user with the following terms in the applicant’s specification:

Wholesale services in relation to art materials; Wholesale services in relation to bags; Wholesale services in relation to beauty implements for humans; Wholesale services in relation to clothing; Wholesale services in relation to fabrics; Wholesale services in relation to footwear; Wholesale services in relation to fragrancings preparations; Wholesale services in relation to furnishings; Wholesale services in relation to furniture; Wholesale services in relation to headgear; Wholesale services in relation to hygienic implements for humans; Wholesale services in relation to jewellery; Wholesale services in relation to luggage; Wholesale services in relation to toiletries; Wholesale services in relation to umbrellas; Wholesale services in relation to wall coverings; Wholesale services in relation to works of art; Wholesale services relating to clothing; Wholesale services relating to fake furs; Wholesale services relating to furniture; Wholesale services relating to furs; Wholesale services relating to jewelry.

There may also be a degree of competition between them. Consequently, I consider the services to be highly similar.

96. Whilst I recognise that the opponent's specification covers retail services, I do not consider that term to be identical to what is essentially business administration and management services provided to the retail sector. This is because the user of the services differs (one being businesses in the retail sector and the other being members of the public), the purpose differs (one being the retail of goods and the other being to assist with the functioning of a retail business) and the trade channels differ (one being a retail store and the other being specialist business support providers). I also consider that the nature and method of use of the services will differ. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the following services in the applicant's specification to be dissimilar to the opponent's services:

Administration of the business affairs of retail stores; Administration relating to sales methods; Administrative processing and organising of mail order services; Arranging commercial transactions, for others, via online shops; Business management of retail outlets; Business management of wholesale and retail outlets; Business management of wholesale outlets; Business operation of shopping centers for others; Business operation of shopping malls.

If I am wrong in this finding, then there will be only a low degree of similarity.

97. Similarly, I see no point of overlap with the following terms in the applicant's specification which all relate to consumer advice:

Commercial information and advice for consumers [consumer advice shop]; Commercial information and advice for consumers in the choice of products and services; Commercial information and advice services for consumers in the field of beauty products; Commercial information and advice services for consumers in the field of cosmetic products; Commercial information and advice services for consumers in the field of make-up products; Providing commercial information to consumers; Providing consumer information relating to goods and services; Providing consumer product advice; Providing consumer product advice relating to cosmetics; Providing consumer product information; Providing consumer product information relating to cosmetics; Providing consumer product information via the Internet; Provision of information and advice to consumers regarding the selection of products and items to be purchased.

These have a specific purpose of assisting consumers through the provision of information which differs to the purposes of the opponent's services. There is no overlap in trade channels as the applicant's services are likely to be provided by specialist and independent businesses. The nature and method of use of the services will differ. I recognise that there may be some overlap in user, to the extent that the opponent's services can also be used by members of the general public, but I do not consider that sufficient for a finding of similarity. There is no competition or complementarity. Consequently, I consider the services to be dissimilar. If I am wrong in this finding, then they will be similar to only a low degree.

98. "Comparison shopping services" in the applicant's specification is a service offered by intermediaries who identify alternative providers of the item the user is looking for, to enable the consumer to compare the offerings and make a decision as to which to choose. This clearly differs in nature, method of use and trade channels from those services set out in the opponent's specifications. However, I recognise that there may be some overlap in purpose to the extent that the end goal of both these services and the retail services in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark is for the consumer to obtain the end product desired. There may be a degree of competition between them as a consumer may choose to either purchase a product directly from a retail provider or to use an intermediary comparison service. Taking all of this into account, I consider there to be a medium degree of similarity between the services.

99. I recognise that fashion shows serve a number of functions for the businesses that exhibit at them. However, one of the key functions of such events is to promote the goods of fashion houses. Consequently, in my view, the terms “fashion show exhibitions for commercial purposes”, “Fashion shows for promotional purposes (Organization of -)”, “Organisation of fashion shows for commercial purposes” and “Organization of fashion shows for promotional purposes” in the applicant’s specification will be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “advertising services” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. If I am wrong in this finding, then there will be overlap in user, purpose, method of use and trade channels. Consequently, I consider the services to be similar to at least between a medium and high degree.

100. “Gift registry services” in the applicant’s specification involves the provision of a facility for customers to prepare a gift list, most commonly to circulate to guests in advance of a function (such as a wedding, baby shower or christening). These services are often provided by retail stores. Consequently, I consider there to be overlap in trade channels with the opponent’s retail services. Similarly, there will be overlap in purpose, nature, method of use and user. There is no competition or complementarity. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider the services to be similar to between a medium and high degree.

101. “Presentation of goods and services”, “Product demonstration services in shop windows by live models” and “Product demonstrations and product display services” in the applicant’s specification are all services used for promotional purposes. Consequently, I consider that they will be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to “advertising services” in the specification of the Third Earlier Mark. If I am wrong in this finding, then they will overlap in nature, method of use, purpose, user and trade channels. There may be a degree of competition between these services and other advertising services. Consequently, they will be similar to a high degree.

102. The terms “Providing online marketplaces for sellers of goods and or services”, “Provision of an online marketplace for buyers and sellers of goods and services” and “Provision of an on-line marketplace for buyers and sellers of goods and services” in the applicant’s specification all involve the provision of an online retail space. Consequently, I consider these terms to be identical on the principle outlined in Meric to the opponent’s retail services. If I am wrong in this finding, then there will be overlap in purpose as both are intended for use by buyers to obtain goods. There will also be overlap in nature and method of use, as both can be provided through an online platform. There will clearly be overlap in user as both will be used by members of the general public. There may be overlap in trade channels, although to the extent that the trade channels differ there is likely to be competition. Consequently, I consider the services to be similar to between a medium and high degree.

The average consumer and the nature of the purchasing act

103. As the case law above indicates, it is necessary for me to determine who the average consumer is for the respective parties’ goods and services. I must then determine the manner in which the goods and services are likely to be selected by the average consumer. In Hearst Holdings Inc, Fleischer Studios Inc v A.V.E.L.A. Inc, Poeticgem Limited, The Partnership (Trading) Limited, U Wear Limited, J Fox Limited, [2014] EWHC 439 (Ch), Birss J described the average consumer in these terms:

“60. The trade mark questions have to be approached from the point of view of the presumed expectations of the average consumer who is reasonably well informed and reasonably circumspect. The parties were agreed that the relevant person is a legal construct and that the test is to be applied objectively by the court from the point of view of that constructed person. The words “average” denotes that the person is typical. The term “average” does not denote some form of numerical mean, mode or median.”

104. The average consumer for the goods could include both members of the general public and business users (such as hairdressers or tailors). The goods are likely to be purchased reasonably frequently and will vary in cost. Even where the cost is low, there will still be various factors taken into consideration (such as material, aesthetic and comfort for clothing and footwear and skin sensitivities and colour matching for cosmetics). Consequently, I consider that a medium degree of attention will be paid in respect of the goods. The average consumer for the services will also include both members of the general public and business users. The services are also likely to vary in terms of cost and frequency of purchase. However, the cost is likely to be higher than it is for the goods. I recognise that various factors will be taken into consideration such as range of products or suitability for the business' particular needs or customer base. Taking all of this into consideration, I consider that at least a medium degree of attention will be paid in relation to the services (although I recognise that it may be higher than medium in some cases).

105. The goods are likely to be purchased by self-selection from the shelves of a retail outlet or their online or catalogue equivalent. The services are likely to be purchased from specialist providers, either from bricks-and-mortar establishments or their online equivalents. Consequently, visual considerations will dominate the purchasing process. However, I do not discount that there will also be an aural component to the purchase given that advice may be sought from retail assistants and word-of-mouth recommendations may play a part.

Comparison of trade marks

106. It is clear from Sabel BV v. Puma AG (particularly paragraph 23) that the average consumer normally perceives a trade mark as a whole and does not proceed to analyse its various details. The same case also explains that the visual, aural and conceptual similarities of the trade marks must be assessed by reference to the overall impressions created by the trade marks, bearing in mind their distinctive and dominant components. The CJEU stated at paragraph 34 of its judgment in Case C-591/12P, Bimbo SA v OHIM, that:

“... it is necessary to ascertain, in each individual case, the overall impression made on the target public by the sign for which registration is sought, by means of, inter alia, an analysis of the components of a sign and of their relative weight in the perception of the target public, and then, in the light of that overall impression and all factors relevant to the circumstances of the case, to assess the likelihood of confusion.”

107. It would be wrong, therefore, to artificially dissect the trade marks, although it is necessary to take into account the distinctive and dominant components of the marks and to give due weight to any other features which are not negligible and therefore contribute to the overall impressions created by the marks.

108. The respective trade marks are shown below:

Opponent's trade marks	Applicant's trade marks

Overall Impression

109. The applicant's marks both consist of the word AJALA/ajala, with the first presented in upper case and the second presented in lower case. As registration of a word only mark covers use in any standard typeface, I do not consider there to be any difference created by the presentation in different cases and, consequently, the same comparison will apply to both. There are no other elements to contribute to the overall impression of the marks which lies in the word itself.

110. The First and Second Earlier Mark consist of the word ALAÏA. There are no other elements to contribute to the overall impression which lies in the word itself.

111. The Third Earlier Mark consists of the words ALAÏA PARIS. The overall impression of the mark lies in the combination of these words. However, I note that as the word PARIS will be viewed as indicating geographical origin of the goods/services, the word ALAÏA will be the distinctive element.

Visual Comparison

The First and Second Earlier Marks and the Applicant's Marks

112. Visually, the First and Second Earlier Marks and the applicant's marks overlap in the presence of the letters A-A-A in the same order. They also share the common letter L, although this appears as the second letter in the First and Second Earlier Marks and the fourth letter in the applicant's marks. The marks differ in the presence of the letter J in the applicant's marks and the letter Ï in the First and Second Earlier Marks. However, I note that there is some degree of similarity in appearance between the respective letters in the second and fourth position in the parties' marks. Taking all of this into account, I consider the marks to be visually similar to between a medium and high degree.

The Third Earlier Mark and the Applicant's Mark

113. Visually, the same comparison applies as set out above. However, the Third Earlier Mark also contains the word PARIS which has no counterpart in the applicant's marks. Consequently, I consider these marks to be visually similar to a medium degree.

Aural Comparison

The First and Second Earlier Marks and the Applicant's Marks

114. Aurally, as the parties' marks are not dictionary words, I recognise that they may be pronounced in a number of different ways. However, in my view, the applicant's marks are most likely to be pronounced as ADJ-AL-AHH. The First and Second Earlier

Marks are likely to be pronounced AL-AYE-AHH. The last syllable of the marks will, therefore, be pronounced identically. The second syllable in the applicant's mark will also be pronounced identically to the first syllable in the First and Second Earlier Marks. The remaining syllable of both marks will be pronounced differently, although there is some similarity created by the fact that both begin with an 'A' sound. Taking all of this into account, I consider the marks to be aurally similar to a medium degree.

The Third Earlier Mark and the Applicant's Mark

115. Aurally, the same comparison will apply as identified above. However, the addition of the word PARIS acts as a point of aural difference. Consequently, I consider the marks to be similar to between a low and medium degree.

Conceptual Comparison

The First and Second Earlier Marks and the Applicant's Marks

116. Conceptually, I consider that both marks are likely to be viewed as invented or foreign language words. Consequently, the conceptual position will be neutral. I note that the opponent has submitted that its own mark will be viewed as an unusual name. Similarly, the applicant has submitted that the applied-for mark was chosen because it was his family name.<sup>8</sup> In my view, the applicant's evidence shows that this is a relatively uncommon name in the UK. On balance, I consider it unlikely that the average consumer would recognise either mark as a name. However, I recognise that if the average consumer does identify both marks as names, there may be some limited conceptual overlap.

The Third Earlier Mark and the Applicant's Mark

117. Conceptually, the same comparison will apply. I recognise that the word PARIS in the Third Earlier Mark has a concept with no counterpart in the applicant's marks.

However, given that this is a geographical descriptor, I do not consider this to be a distinctive conceptual difference.

Distinctive character of the earlier trade marks

118. In Lloyd Schuhfabrik Meyer & Co. GmbH v Klijsen Handel BV, Case C-342/97 the CJEU stated that:

“22. In determining the distinctive character of a mark and, accordingly, in assessing whether it is highly distinctive, the national court must make an overall assessment of the greater or lesser capacity of the mark to identify the goods or services for which it has been registered as coming from a particular undertaking, and thus to distinguish those goods or services from those of other undertakings (see, to that effect, judgment of 4 May 1999 in Joined Cases C-108/97 and C-109/97 Windsurfing Chiemsee v Huber and Attenberger [1999] ECR I-2779, paragraph 49).

23. In making that assessment, account should be taken, in particular, of the inherent characteristics of the mark, including the fact that it does or does not contain an element descriptive of the goods or services for which it has been registered; the market share held by the mark; how intensive, geographically widespread and long-standing use of the mark has been; the amount invested by the undertaking in promoting the mark; the proportion of the relevant section of the public which, because of the mark, identifies the goods or services as originating from a particular undertaking; and statements from chambers of commerce and industry or other trade and professional associations (see Windsurfing Chiemsee, paragraph 51).”

119. Registered trade marks possess varying degrees of inherent distinctive character ranging from the very low, because they are suggestive or allusive of a characteristic of the goods, to those with high inherent distinctive character, such as invented words which have no allusive qualities. The distinctiveness of a mark can be enhanced by virtue of the use that has been made of it.

120. The relevant market for assessing enhanced distinctiveness is the UK market. Ms May notes that apparel, footwear, bags and fashion accessories are sold under the ALAÏA mark through the opponent's website and its flagship store in London. I note that the London "first flagship outside the French capital" store was opened in 2018.<sup>9</sup> Ms May also notes that goods sold under the mark are sold through third party businesses including Harrods (London), Selfridges (London), net-a-porter.com, matchesfashion.com, yoox.com and mytheresa.com. Examples of the current UK website and some, limited, examples of the UK website from previous years are in evidence.<sup>10</sup>

121. I note that there has been some advertising in Vogue prior to the relevant date.<sup>11</sup> Ms May states that an exhibition of the ALAÏA products was held in London's Design Museum from June to October 2018. This exhibition was covered by national publications such as Elle ("a must-see"), Vogue ("a fitting tribute to the couturier"), BBC ("incredible") and The Guardian ("a simple appreciation of the technical brilliance of a designer's hands-on artistry").<sup>12</sup>

122. Ms May notes that the designer whose name was behind the trade marks (Azzedine Alaïa) received a posthumous Outstanding Achievement in Fashion Design Award in 2017. Further, she also notes that his death was covered in national publications such as Vogue, The Independent and The Times.<sup>13</sup> Coverage of the opponent's expansion into perfume and cosmetics is also in evidence.<sup>14</sup> I note that the opponent won an award for its perfume products, but this appears to have been publicised on a Spanish website and it is not clear to me whether this related to the UK market.<sup>15</sup>

123. Ms May gives the following turnover figures for products sold under the ALAÏA brand in the UK:

Leather goods	2,600	3,100	1,750	1,700	1,050
Readywear	5,600	5,850	4,100	4,150	5,000
Eyewear	-	-	-	-	-
Fragrance	5	10	-	-	-

Ms May notes that these figures are expressed in 1,000 Euros.

124. Ms May has provided figures for the number of UK users that accessed the opponent's website between 1 September 2018 and 6 January 2020.<sup>16</sup> I note that some of this document is in French and, whilst translations have been provided, they are not certified. However, taking this information as correct, I note that there were 44,977 UK-based users during that period.

125. It seems to me that the majority of evidence and sales relate to the wider EU market i.e. outside of the UK. I note that the sales in the UK are not insignificant. However, given the size of the markets concerned, I do not consider these to represent a particularly significant market share. There is evidence of references to the opponent's brand in UK publications, but I have no figures for advertising or marketing spend in the UK. Taking all of this into consideration, I do not consider the evidence sufficient to establish enhanced distinctiveness.

126. I have, therefore, only the inherent position to consider. The First and Second Earlier Marks consist of the word ALAÏA. As noted above, I consider that this will be viewed as an invented or foreign language word, with no conceptual meaning for the average consumer. Consequently, I consider the First and Second Earlier Marks to be inherently highly distinctive. The same applies to the Third Earlier Mark, with the addition of the word PARIS. However, as this word will be seen as a geographical descriptor, I do not consider that it adds to the distinctiveness of the Third Earlier Mark. If I am wrong in this finding and the word ALAÏA is, in fact, viewed as a name, then it will be viewed as an unusual or foreign language name, and the earlier marks will be inherently distinctive to between a medium and high degree.

Likelihood of confusion

127. Confusion can be direct or indirect. Direct confusion involves the average consumer mistaking one mark for the other, while indirect confusion is where the average consumer realises the marks are not the same but puts the similarity that exists between the marks and the goods and services down to the responsible undertakings being the same or related. There is no scientific formula to apply in determining whether there is a likelihood of confusion; rather, it is a global assessment where a number of factors need to be borne in mind. The first is the interdependency principle i.e. a lesser degree of similarity between the respective trade marks may be offset by a greater degree of similarity between the respective parties goods and services and vice versa. As I mentioned above, it is necessary for me to keep in mind the distinctive character of the earlier mark, the average consumer for the goods and services and the nature of the purchasing process. In doing so, I must be alive to the fact that the average consumer rarely has the opportunity to make direct comparisons between trade marks and must instead rely upon the imperfect picture of them that he has retained in his mind.

128. I have found the applicant's marks and the First and Second Earlier Marks to be visually similar to between a medium and high degree and aurally similar to a medium degree. I have found the applicant's marks and the Third Earlier Mark to be visually similar to a medium degree and aurally similar to between a low and medium degree. I have found all of the marks to be conceptually neutral and, whilst I note that the word PARIS in the Third Earlier Mark has no counterpart in the applicant's mark, it is not a distinctive point of difference. If I am wrong in my primary finding and both marks are, in fact, viewed as names, I recognise that this will create some limited conceptual overlap between them. I have found the earlier marks to all be inherently distinctive to a high degree as they will be viewed as foreign language/invented words. However, if the earlier marks are viewed as names then they will be inherently distinctive to between a medium and high degree. I have found the average consumer to be a member of the general public or business user, who will purchase the goods and services by predominantly visual means (although I do not discount an aural component). I consider that at least a medium degree of attention will be paid during the purchasing process, although I recognise that in some cases the level of attention may be higher. I have found the goods and services to vary from being dissimilar to identical.

129. Bearing in mind the visual similarities between the marks, and the predominantly visual purchasing process, I consider that the First and Second Earlier Marks and the applicant's marks are likely to be mistakenly recalled or misremembered as each other. My view is that the marks will be viewed as foreign language/invented words, meaning that they will be conceptually neutral. In those circumstances, there will be no conceptual hook to assist the average consumer in differentiating between them and, where used on goods and services that are similar to at least a medium degree, I consider there to be a likelihood of direct confusion. In respect of the Third Earlier Mark, I have found the word PARIS to be non-distinctive. Consequently, this may be overlooked by the average consumer and the words ALAÏA and AJALA/ajala may be misremembered in the same way identified above, leading to direct confusion. Even where the word PARIS is recalled, the similarities between words ALAÏA and AJALA/ajala may still be misremembered and the addition of the non-distinctive word PARIS is likely to be viewed as an alternative mark being used by the same or economically linked undertakings. There will, therefore, be a likelihood of indirect confusion. In respect of those goods and services that I have found to be dissimilar, there can be no likelihood of confusion. Further, for those services that I have found to be similar to only a low degree or between a low and medium degree, I consider that the differences between the goods and services will be sufficient to offset the similarity between the marks. For those goods and services, there will be no likelihood of direct or indirect confusion.

130. Even if both marks are viewed as names, I consider that the outcome will be the same. Both would be unusual names and the same visual and aural similarities would apply. Notwithstanding the slightly decreased degree of inherent distinctiveness, I would still find that the words ALAÏA and AJALA/ajala may be misremembered. I consider there to be a likelihood of direct confusion. Even where there is the additional word PARIS, this will just be viewed as a non-distinctive addition used as part of an alternative mark by the same or economically linked undertakings. I consider there to be a likelihood of indirect confusion.

131. The opposition based upon section 5(2)(b) of the Act succeeds in relation to those goods and services that I have found to be similar to at least a medium degree (see paragraphs 156 and 157 below).

Section 5(3)

132. Section 5(3) of the Act states:

“5(3) A trade mark which -

(a) is identical with or similar to an earlier trade mark, shall not be registered if, or to the extent that, the earlier trade mark has a reputation in the United Kingdom (or, in the case of a European Union trade mark or international trade mark (EC), in the European Union) and the use of the later mark without due cause would take unfair advantage of, or be detrimental to, the distinctive character or repute of the earlier trade mark.”

133. As noted above, by virtue of their earlier filing dates, the opponent’s marks qualify as earlier marks pursuant to section 6 of the Act. Proof of use has not been requested and the opponent can rely upon all of the goods and services identified.

134. I bear in mind the relevant case law set out in the following judgments of the CJEU: Case C-375/97, General Motors, Case 252/07, Intel, Case C-408/01, Adidas-Salomon, Case C-487/07, L’Oreal v Bellure and Case C-323/09, Marks and Spencer v Interflora. The conditions of section 5(3) are cumulative. Firstly, the opponent must show that the earlier marks are similar to the applicant’s marks. Secondly, the opponent must show that the earlier marks have achieved a level of knowledge/reputation amongst a significant part of the public. Thirdly, it must be established that the level of reputation and the similarities between the marks will cause the public to make a link between them, in the sense of the earlier marks being brought to mind by the later marks. Fourthly, assuming that the first three conditions have been met, section 5(3) requires that one or more of the types of damage will occur. It is unnecessary for the purposes of section 5(3) that the goods and services be similar, although the relative distance between them is one of the factors which must be assessed in deciding whether the public will make a link between the marks.

135. The relevant date for the purposes of the assessment under section 5(3) of the Act is the date of the application i.e. 26 March 2020.

136. I will deal with this ground only briefly. I have summarised the opponent's evidence in relation to use in the UK above. It is not, in my view sufficient to establish a reputation in the UK for the reasons set out above and this ground of opposition based upon the Second Earlier Mark (which is a UKTM) must fail. There is further evidence provided by Ms May in relation to use in the EU. However, the evidence relates almost entirely to clothing and leather goods such as handbags. Consequently, even if I were to find that the First and Third Earlier Marks had a reputation in respect of those goods at the relevant date, it would put the opponent in no stronger position than my findings under section 5(2).

137. Firstly, even if I found a reputation in the EU (by virtue of the use in France, Germany, Spain and Italy), absent a reputation in the UK, I see no reason to conclude that a link would be made in the minds of a significant part of the relevant public.

138. Secondly, even if a link were made by virtue of the exhibitions that have taken place in the UK and the references in publications that have been made in national newspapers, I would only find unfair advantage in relation to those goods and services that are similar to the opponent's "clothing", "handbags" and "leather goods" to a medium degree or higher. This is because any reputation would be no more than moderate and this, combined with the distance between the other goods and services, would be sufficient to avoid damage occurring. I do not consider the opponent's other pleaded types of damage would put it in any stronger position. This means that the opponent would be in no stronger position than it is under section 5(2)(b).

139. Consequently, this ground of opposition does not put the opponent in any stronger position and I decline to consider it any further.

Section 3(6)

140. Section 3(6) of the Act states:

“(6) A trade mark shall not be registered if or to the extent that the application is made in bad faith.”

141. In Sky Limited & Ors v Skykick, UK Ltd & Ors, [2021] EWCA Civ 1121 the Court of Appeal considered the case law from Chocoladefabriken Lindt & Sprüngli AG v Franz Hauswirth GmbH, Case C-529/07 EU:C:2009:361, Malaysia Dairy Industries Pte. Ltd v Ankenævnetfor Patenter Varemærker Case C-320/12, EU:C:2013:435, Koton Mağazacılık Tekstil Sanayi ve Ticaret AŞ, Case C-104/18 P, EU:C:2019:724, Hasbro, Inc. v EUIPO, Kreativni Dogaaji d.o.o. intervening, Case T-663/19, EU:2021:211, pelicantravel.com s.r.o. v OHIM, Pelikan Vertriebsgesellschaft mbH & Co KG (intervening), Case T-136/11, EU:T:2012:689, and Psytech International Ltd v OHIM, Institute for Personality & Ability Testing, Inc (intervening), Case T-507/08, EU:T:2011:46. It summarised the law as follows:

“68. The following points of relevance to this case can be gleaned from these CJEU authorities:

1. The allegation that a trade mark has been applied for in bad faith is one of the absolute grounds for invalidity of an EU trade mark which can be relied on before the EUIPO or by means of a counterclaim in infringement proceedings: Lindt at [34].

2. Bad faith is an autonomous concept of EU trade mark law which must be given a uniform interpretation in the EU: Malaysia Dairy Industries at [29].

3. The concept of bad faith presupposes the existence of a dishonest state of mind or intention, but dishonesty is to be understood in the context of trade mark law, i.e. the course of trade and having regard to the objectives of the law namely the establishment and functioning of the internal market, contributing to the system of undistorted competition in the Union, in which each undertaking must, in order to attract and retain customers by the quality of its goods or services, be able to have registered as trade marks signs which enable the consumer, without any possibility of confusion, to distinguish those goods or services from others which have a different origin: Lindt at [45]; Koton Mağazacılık at [45].

4. The concept of bad faith, so understood, relates to a subjective motivation on the part of the trade mark applicant, namely a dishonest intention or other sinister motive. It involves conduct which departs from accepted standards of ethical behaviour or honest commercial and business practices: Hasbro at [41].

5. The date for assessment of bad faith is the time of filing the application: Lindt at [35].

6. It is for the party alleging bad faith to prove it: good faith is presumed until the contrary is proved: Pelikan at [21] and [40].

7. Where the court or tribunal finds that the objective circumstances of a particular case raise a rebuttable presumption of lack of good faith, it is for the applicant to provide a plausible explanation of the objectives and commercial logic pursued by the application: Hasbro at [42].

8. Whether the applicant was acting in bad faith must be the subject of an overall assessment, taking into account all the factors relevant to the particular case: Lindt at [37].

9. For that purpose it is necessary to examine the applicant's intention at the time the mark was filed, which is a subjective factor which must be determined by reference to the objective circumstances of the particular case: Lindt at [41] – [42].

10. Even where there exist objective indicia pointing towards bad faith, however, it cannot be excluded that the applicant's objective was in pursuit of a legitimate objective, such as excluding copyists: Lindt at [49].

11. Bad faith can be established even in cases where no third party is specifically targeted, if the applicant's intention was to obtain the mark for purposes other than those falling within the functions of a trade mark: Koton Mağazacılık at [46].

12. It is relevant to consider the extent of the reputation enjoyed by the sign at the time when the application was filed: the extent of that reputation may justify the applicant's interest in seeking wider legal protection for its sign: Lindt at [51] to [52].

13. Bad faith cannot be established solely on the basis of the size of the list of goods and services in the application for registration: Psytech at [88], Pelikan at [54]".

142. The correct approach to the assessment of bad faith claims is as follows. According to Alexander Trade Mark, the key questions for determination in such a case are:

(a) What, in concrete terms, was the objective that the trade mark applicant has been accused of pursuing?

(b) Was that an objective for the purposes of which the contested application could not be properly filed? and

(c) Was it established that the contested application was filed in pursuit of that objective?

143. It is necessary to ascertain what the applicant knew at the relevant date: Red Bull GmbH v Sun Mark Limited and Sea Air & Land Forwarding Limited [2012] EWHC 1929 (Ch). Evidence about subsequent events may be relevant, if it casts light backwards on the position at the relevant date: Hotel Cipriani SRL and others v Cipriani (Grosvenor Street) Limited and others, [2009] RPC 9 (approved by the Court of Appeal in England and Wales: [2010] RPC 16).

144. In this case, the relevant date is 26 March 2020.

145. In its Notice of opposition, the opponent states:

“It is submitted that the applicant has been filed in bad faith as the Applicant does not have a bona fide intention of using the mark for all of the specified goods and services. The Applicant appears to have selected all goods and services from the alphabetical list of goods and services for each class. For example, it would seem to be highly improbable that the Applicant would have a genuine intention of using the mark across such a wide and diverse range of goods and services as “automotive wax” to “baby body milk” in Class 3, to “account auditing” to “retail services for seafood” in Class 35 and “advice relating to immunology” to “yard care services” in Class 44.”

146. In its submissions in lieu, the opponent submitted:

“7. It is submitted that whilst the Applicant has restricted the list of goods in Classes 3 and 25 of the Opposed Application, the specification continues to cover an extremely broad and diverse range of goods and services. For example, Class 3 covers inter alia the following surprisingly diverse range of product:

- “abrasive sanding sponges”
- “aftershave”
- “agents for removing wax”
- “almond mil for cosmetic purposes”
- “ammonia [volatile alkali] [detergent]”

- “automobile cleaners”
- “baby body milks”
- “carbides of metal [abrasives]”
- “fabric softeners”
- “leather preservatives”
- “lime removers”
- “mould removing preparations”
- “natural floor waxes”
- “shining preparations for fruit”

8. When the application continues to cover such an extremely broad and diverse range of goods and services, see also for example “account auditing” and “advisory services relating to the running of sandwich bars” to “retail services for seafood” in Class 35, “warranties (extended) for domestic electrical appliances” and “venture capital fund management” to “accommodation (leasing of -) [apartments]” in Class 36, “advice relating to preventing blockages in septic tanks” and “rental of concrete mixing apparatus” to “remounting of jewellery” in Class 37, and “advice relating to immunology” to “yard care services” in Class 44, there must be serious doubt that there is a genuine intention to use the mark for all of the specified goods and services.

9. In the absence of evidence of use, details of plans for use, or of a stated commercial rationale for including such a broad range of goods/services, it is submitted that the application should be treated as having been made wholly or partly in bad faith.”

And:

“9. It is recognised that an allegation of bad faith is a serious one. Whilst there is a lack of readily available commercial evidence to indicate the Applicant’s intended use of the marks, the Applicant’s selection of all pre-approved terms available for the classes of the application, and the diversity of those goods and services, suggests that on the balance of probability, the Applicant has no intention of using the opposed trade marks for all of the goods and services specified in the application.”

147. In its Counterstatement, the applicant states:

“The opponent’s claim under section 3(6) stating that we do not have a bona fide intention of using the trade mark for all the goods and services that we have applied for is simply a baseless opinion of the opponent. We have every intention of using our trade mark for the goods and services classes that we have stipulated on our application. Again, we fail to see the relevance of this claim by the opponent as our marks are different and can be easily distinguished by the average member of the public.

Further advice provided by the UK IPO regarding registering a trade mark advised us that if there are any goods and/or services within a certain class that you do not intend to use your trade mark for in the future, you should stipulate them now in your application as we won’t be able to add to add [sic] such details in the future after the application has been processed.”

148. In its written submissions, the applicant states:

“The applicant maintains their intention to use all the terms within the goods and services classes listed within their application and at any such time if they deem that they no longer wish to offer such goods and services a TM21B will be completed and duly submitted to the Intellectual Property Office.”

149. I note that the applicant filed an amended specification on 14 April 2021. However, I do not consider that any inferences can or should be drawn from this.

150. As set out above, the opponent has accused the proprietor of applying for an excessively broad range of goods and services, such that it can have no intention to use the trade mark for the scope of those goods and services. Mr Gay filed evidence showing the Companies House details for the applicant which describe its activities as

“other business support service activities not elsewhere classified”.<sup>17</sup> Mr Gay has also provided the results of a Google search for the applicant which do not appear to provide any information about what activities the applicant is engaged with.<sup>18</sup> There does not seem to be any suggestion that the applicant has no intention to use any of the goods or services identified; rather, the complaint seems to be that it cannot possibly intend to trade in all of these goods and services, given their breadth.

151. Whether it is bad faith to apply for a trade mark without any intention to use it in relation to the specified goods and services was considered in Sky v Skykick, CJEU, Case C-371/18, EU:C:2020:45 (“Sky CJEU”) and Sky Limited & Ors v Skykick, UK Ltd & Ors, [2021] EWCA Civ 1121 (“Sky CA”).<sup>19</sup> The law appears to be as follows:

- a) Applying to register a trade mark without an intention to use it is not bad faith per se. Therefore, it is not necessary for the trade mark applicant to be using, or have plans to use, the mark in relation to all the goods/services covered by the specification: Sky CJEU.
- b) The bad faith of the trade mark applicant cannot, therefore, be presumed on the basis of the mere finding that, at the time of filing his or her application, that applicant had no economic activity corresponding to the goods and services referred to in that application: Sky CJEU.
- c) However, where the trade mark application is filed without an intention to use it in relation to the specified goods and services, and there is no rationale for the application under trade mark law, it may constitute bad faith. Such bad faith may be established where there are objective, relevant and consistent indications showing that the applicant had the intention either of undermining, in a manner inconsistent with honest practices, the interests of third parties, or of obtaining, without even targeting a specific third party, an exclusive right for purposes other than those falling within the functions of a trade mark: Sky CJEU.

<sup>19</sup> Both parties were given the opportunity to file written submissions regarding the impact of the SkyKick judgment on these proceedings, but neither did so.

- d) A trade mark may be applied for in good faith in relation to some of the goods/services covered by the application, and in bad faith as regards others: Sky CJEU.
- e) It is not possible for there to be bad faith in respect of an entire category of goods or services where there was an intention to use the mark in relation to some goods or services within that category (Sky CJEU; Sky CA).
- f) Each category of goods and services must be considered separately, taking into account legitimate use and factors such as an applicant's reputation, brand recognition and expansion which might justify a wide specification: Sky CA.

152. Both parties were given the opportunity to file additional written submissions about the impact of the Sky Kick judgment on this case but neither elected to do so.

153. It is common for applicants to apply for a trade mark prior to any economic activities commencing. Trade mark applicants have five years within which to use their mark for the applied-for goods/services before their mark can be subject to challenge for non-use. It is clear from the case law cited above, that the mere fact that an applicant has applied for a particularly broad range of goods/services cannot be grounds on its own for a finding of bad faith; there must be something more i.e. objective, relevant and consistent indications showing that the applicant had the intention either of undermining, in a manner inconsistent with honest practices, the interests of third parties, or of obtaining, without even targeting a specific third party, an exclusive right for purposes other than those falling within the functions of a trade mark.

154. There is no suggestion in this case that the applicant has acted with the intention of undermining the interests of third parties or of obtaining an exclusive right for purposes other than those falling within the functions of a trade mark. I do not consider the claim that the mere breadth of the specification is sufficient to give rise to a prima facie case of bad faith to have any merit in light of the above case law.

155. The opposition based upon section 3(6) is dismissed in its entirety.

CONCLUSION

156. The opposition succeeds in relation to the following goods and services for which the applicant is refused:

COSTS

158. The opponent has enjoyed the greater degree of success and is entitled to a contribution towards its costs based upon the scale published in Tribunal Practice Notice 2/2016. I have made an appropriate reduction to reflect the opponent's only partial success. Although the opponent has paid an official fee of £200, it was successful only in relation to its section 5(2)(b) ground which would have attracted a fee of only £100. Consequently, I will make an award of only the lower amount. Taking this into account, I award the opponent the sum of £1,150, calculated as follows:

Preparing a statement and considering the applicant's statement	£200
Preparing evidence and considering the applicant's evidence	£600
Written submissions in lieu	£250
Official fee	£100
Total	£1,150

159. I therefore order 3T Group Ltd to pay AATC Trading AG the sum of £1,150. This sum should be paid within 21 days of the expiry of the appeal period or, if there is an appeal, within 21 days of the conclusion of the appeal proceedings.
