TRADE MARKS ACT 1994

CONSOLIDATED PROCEEDINGS IN THE MATTER OF TRADE MARK REGISTRATION

NO. 3514985 AND TRADE MARK APPLICATION NO. 3593912

IN THE NAME OF

LOUISE CLINCH

FOR THE SERIES OF 6 TRADE MARKS:

Lily King, lily king, LILY KING, Lilly King, lilly king & LILLY KING

AND FOR THE SERIES OF 2 TRADE MARKS:

LILY KING LONDON, Lily King London

AND IN THE MATTER OF AN APPLICATION FOR INVALIDATION UNDER

NO. 503904 AND AN OPPOSITION UNDER NO. 425392

BY

LILYBETH KING T/A LILY KING

BACKGROUND AND PLEADINGS

1. Under application No. 3593812, Louise Clinch applied to register the trade marks LILY KING LONDON and Lily King London in the UK on 10 February 2021. The application was accepted and published in the Trade Marks Journal on 9 April 2021 in respect of a wide range of goods and services under classes 3, 4, 14, 16, 18, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 28, 34 and 35.

2. Ms Clinch is also the proprietor of UK registration No. 3514985 which was filed on 23 July 2020 and registered on 11 December 2020 for the series of six marks shown on the cover page of this decision. UK 3514985 is registered for a wide range of goods and services in classes 3, 4, 14, 16, 18, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 34 and 35.

3. The goods and services under the contested registration largely mirror those of the contested application however they are not identical, and the contested application also contains a class 28 element which has no counterpart under the contested registration. (see Annex A for the full list of goods and services under both the contested registration and the contested application).

4. The Opponent/Cancellation Applicant in these proceedings is Lilybeth King t/a Lily King. Ms King has applied to invalidate and oppose Ms Clinch's marks in respect of all of the goods and services under both contested marks. The cancellation and opposition actions are both based on section 5(4)(a) and section 3(6) of the 1994 Trade Marks Act ("the Act").

5. Under the section 5(4)(a) ground of opposition and invalidation, Ms King claims a goodwill generated through use of the unregistered sign LILY KING throughout the UK since 2011, on the following goods and services:

Lifestyle boutique and gift shop services supplying a range of goods such as cosmetics, cosmetic accessories, clothing, footwear, headgear, bags, food and drink, jewellery and stationery (for the purposes of the cancellation action).

AND

Jewellery, candles, fashion accessories, greetings cards, and homeware (for the purposes of the opposition).

6. In a statement of grounds, Ms King states that in respect of the section 5(4)(a) pleading, she can establish that she holds goodwill acquired through use of the contested mark LILY KING and is the owner of significant goodwill in respect of the goods and services set out above. She claims that these goods and services are identical or highly similar to those covered by the contested marks.

7. Ms King also submits that given the clear and high similarity between the marks and the goods/services in issue, the average consumer would be deceived into thinking that there is a commercial connection between the parties, which is not the case. She asserts that there would be a clear misrepresentation to consumers as to the commercial origin of the goods and services which would be highly damaging to her business, particularly as she would have no control or influence over the quality of the goods and services produced by Ms Clinch. If Ms Clinch were to produce substandard products bearing the LILY KING brand, this would significantly damage her goodwill and reputation, she claims.

8. Regarding the bad faith pleading under section 3(6), Ms King has claimed that at the time that Ms Clinch filed the contested application, she knew, or at least ought to have known that Ms King, as the applicant for invalidation of Ms Clinch's contested registration, was the true and rightful holder of the brand LILY KING. Furthermore, Ms King claims that the contested registration was designed specifically to incorporate her mark LILY KING and benefit from its reputation and long-established use. As a result, Ms King states that Ms Clinch sought registration of the contested marks in order to fraudulently represent herself as a provider of LILY KING branded products.

9. In reply to the invalidation and opposition actions, Ms Clinch submitted a counterstatement in which she asserted that she established the brand LILY KING, which is the name of her great-grandmother, in 2009. She states that since 2009 she has generated substantial goodwill in the LILY KING name and that prior to establishing the brand, had searched to identify any other businesses using the same or a similar name. Ms Clinch asserts that she found none and claims therefore that she established the LILY KING brand without any intention to deceive the relevant public. She denies that there has been any misrepresentation and, consequently, no damage to Ms King. With regard to the claim of bad faith under section 3(6), Ms Clinch denies all of the claims made by Ms King.

10. Ms King filed evidence in chief on 5 October 2021 in the form of a witness statement of Lilybeth King dated 4 October 2021, along with exhibits LK1 – LK15, and a witness statement of Andrew Hawley dated 5 October 2021, along with exhibits ASH1 – ASH12.

11. Ms Clinch provided evidence in reply in the form of a witness statement of Louise Clinch dated 6 December 2021, along with exhibits LC1 – LC12.

12. On 18 March 2022 Ms King filed further evidence in the form of a second witness statement of Lily King dated 17 March 2022, with exhibits LK16 – LK25, and a witness statement of Claire Keating of Marks & Clerk LLP along with exhibits CK1 – CK9.

13. On 11 August 2022, Ms Clinch requested an opportunity to respond to the evidence submitted by Ms Keating, which she asserted amounted to an allegation of fraud, which was a serious allegation that needed response. Ms Clinch stated that Ms Keating had submitted in her witness statement (in paragraphs 6-9, 14-16 & 18, 19, 21-27 of that statement) that Ms Clinch had falsified dates on documents, concealed evidence in images, and blatantly lied about much of the information in her witness statement.

14. Following a Case Management Conference (“CMC”) which took place on 31 August 2022, I agreed that Ms Clinch could submit further evidence to answer the claims made by Ms Keating. They are serious claims, and as Ms Keating had made clear that her client did not intend to request to cross-examine Ms Clinch about her evidence, I deemed it appropriate that Ms Clinch be given the opportunity, prior to a main Hearing, to answer those allegations. I made it clear however, that this did not represent an opportunity to file new information or evidence, and that any new evidential material that might be submitted as part of Ms Clinch’s response to Ms Keating’s allegations which did not go clearly to the matter of those allegations and constitute a rebuttal of them, would not form part of my final decision.

15. A main Hearing was held remotely on 1 November 2022, at which Ms King was represented by Mr Jamie Muir Wood of counsel, instructed by Marks & Clerk LLP. Ms Clinch was represented by Mr Christopher Hall of counsel, instructed by Briffa.

16. Although the UK has left the EU, section 6(3)(a) of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 requires tribunals to apply EU-derived national law in accordance with EU law as it stood at the end of the transition period. The provisions of the Act relied upon in these proceedings are derived from an EU Directive. That is why this decision continues to refer to EU trade mark law.

Evidence of Ms King

17. As noted above, both parties provided evidence. In skeleton arguments and during the Hearing itself, both parties also appeared to accept that this matter rests largely on the question of which party is the senior/first user of the mark LILY KING. It is not quite that straightforward, but clearly the matter can only be decided following a very careful and forensic examination of the evidence that has been submitted by Ms King and Ms Clinch. I find it appropriate therefore, to set out that evidence in rather more detail than might usually be the case.

18. Ms King filed evidence in the form of a witness statement of Lilybeth King dated 4 October 2021, along with exhibits LK1 – LK15, and a witness statement of Andrew Hawley dated 5 October 2021 with exhibits ASH1 – ASH12.

19. In her witness statement, Ms King submits that she has been the owner of LILY KING (her company) since its foundation in 2011. She states that from 2011 her company initially sold jewellery but expanded in 2017 to include a gift shop and lifestyle boutique which stocked and sold a range of goods from independent brands and designers. She states that her retail shop premises opened in 2018. Ms King states that her company has worked hard to support the local community and has been shortlisted for a number of awards within the retail sector.

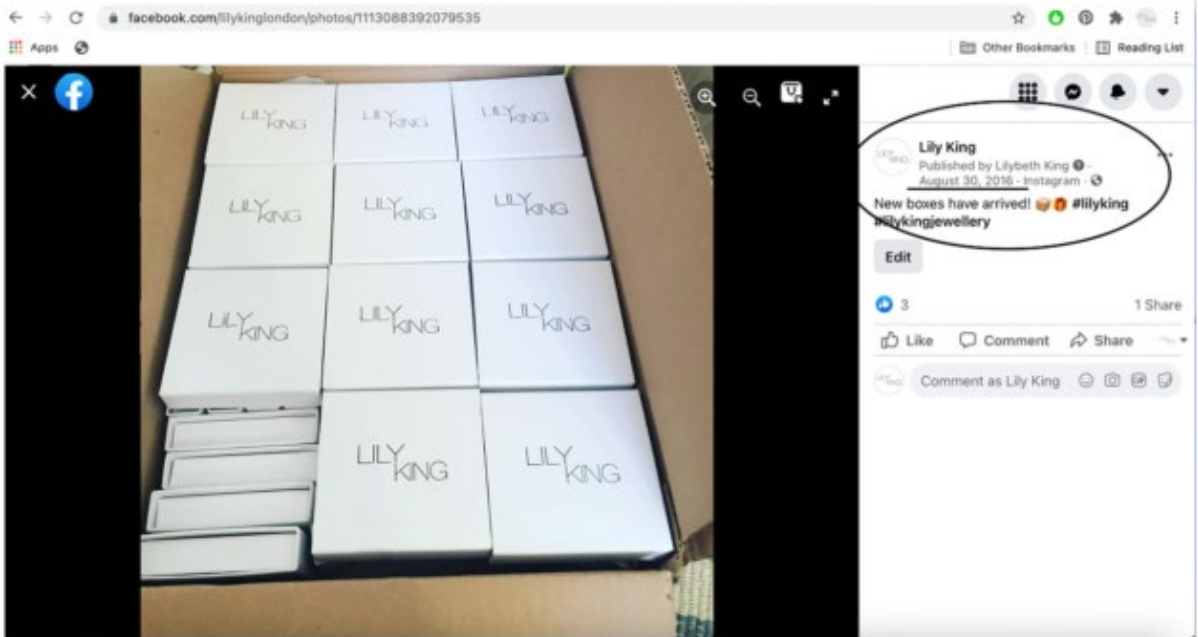

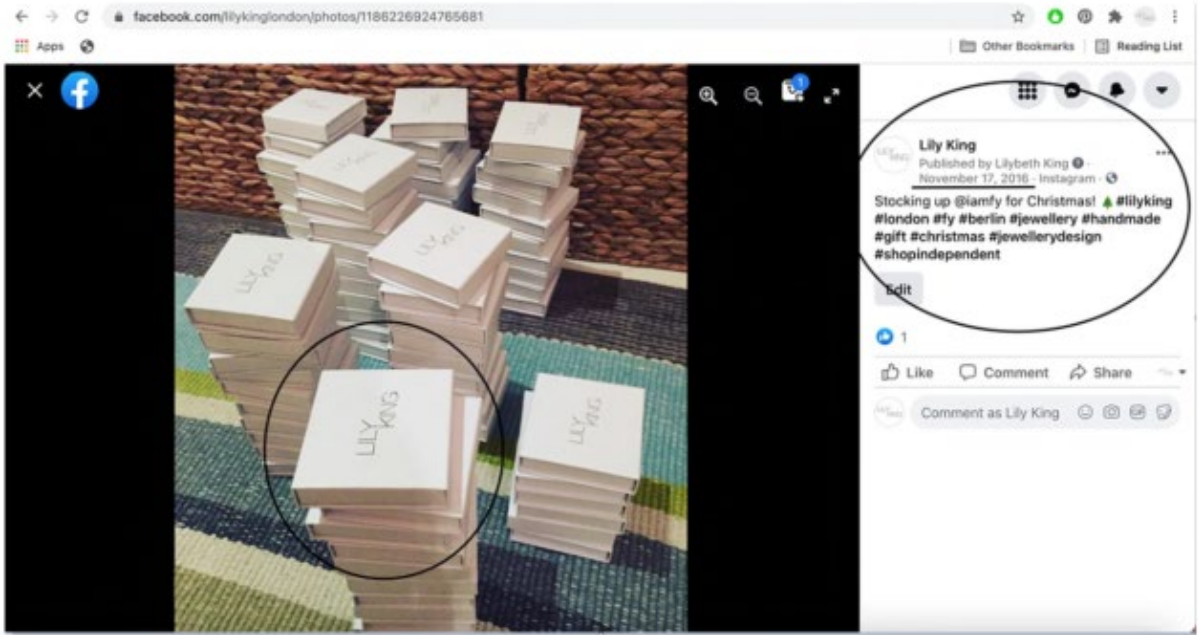

20. Ms King states that her company has sold a range of goods under the LILY KING mark including, but not limited to clothing, bags, jewellery, fashion accessories, beauty products, homeware and stationery. She adds that between 2011 and 2017 she only sold jewellery, online via a website, but that she has expanded the range of goods sold since 2017 via her website, and from her retail store in Willesden Green, London, since 2018. Ms King claims that her company has invested heavily in advertising, marketing and promotion of the LILY KING brand; that her company has a firm presence on all major social media platforms, and that her brand has been clearly and actively used over a number of years on various types of packaging on a wide range of goods.

21. Ms King submits that the exhibits provided as evidence under her witness statement serve to support the claims made in her witness statement and also provide examples of sales, invoices, press and media articles relating to her company, and use of her brand by third party 'partner companies' such as Etsy and Not On The High Street.

22. I will not summarise each exhibit in great detail here but will refer to those parts of the evidence that I find to be most pertinent or appropriate.

23. Exhibit LK1 provides evidence from 2018 onwards that Ms King had opened a retail outlet in Willesden Green, London, selling jewellery and gift items. Exhibit LK2 shows that Ms King's business was shortlisted for a number of business awards between 2018 and 2019. Exhibit LK3 comprises screenshots from the website 'lilyking.co.uk' advertising a range of goods for sale which is much broader than 'jewellery' and includes clothing, beauty products and food and drink items. This information appears to be undated but according to Ms King must be from no earlier than 2017. Exhibit LK4 provides examples of promoting the brand from Feb 2017 onwards, with use of the marks LILY KING and LILYKINGLONDON. Exhibit LK5 provides examples of marketing and promotional activities including an article with Gola, the footwear company, dated 7 November 2013. It is clear that at this time Ms King was trading in jewellery and had begun to work with ASOS online. It is also shown that Ms King was preparing to expand her business and the range of products she offered as early as 2013. The mark LILY KING is clearly being used on jewellery and packaging/bags and in 2016 Ms King's jewellery was provided to celebrities and VIPs at the BRIT Awards in goodie bags. Exhibit LK6 provides a number of reviews from customers dated between 2013 and 2020. Most of these reviews relate to jewellery products, but there are some customer reviews relating to goods such as scarves, bikinis, incense holders, bags, mugs, kimonos, gowns, socks, notebooks and facemasks. All of the reviews dated before 2017 are solely related to jewellery. Exhibit LK7 provides examples of packaging, bags and boxes clearly displaying the name LILY KING, for example:

24. Exhibit LK8 comprises sales figures from 2011 to 2021 in the form of a spreadsheet which looks like this:

Sales Figures 2011 - 2021
Goods Sold	Tax Year	Gross Sales
Jewellery Only	2011-2012	4555
Jewellery Only	2012-2013	9532
Jewellery Only	2013-2014	13,867.00
Jewellery Only	2014-2015	11,334.00
Jewellery Only	2015-2016	21,797.00
Jewellery Only	2016-2017	15,901.00
Jewellery Only until mid-July	2017-2018	14,487.00
Variety of goods	2018-2019	36,480.00
Variety of goods	2019 - 2020	51,742.00
Variety of goods	2020 - 2021	103,015.00

25. It is not clear whether these figures are sales units or sales revenue in '£'. It is clear however that between 2011 and 2017 only jewellery was sold by Ms King.

26. Also provided under Exhibit LK8 is a letter from Barclays Bank, dated 7 September 2021, which confirms that Ms King has an account with Barclays under the business name Lily King and that this relationship commenced in May 2011.

27. Exhibit LK9 provides invoices from third parties such as Google, Tiny Box Co. and Instantprint, dated between 2016 and 2021. These invoices are for goods or services supplied to Ms King. This exhibit also provides a VAT invoice from Vistaprint B.V. to Ms King dated 29 June 2011 which looks like this:

28. Exhibit LK9 also provides a delivery note, dated 11 December 2013, from Ms King to Bermondsey Fayre, which provides a list of jewellery products supplied by Ms King. This note also shows that at that time the bank account details being used included the name of the account as Miss L King. It looks like this:

29. A further letter headed 'Lily King Jewellery' shows sales to BODIE and FOU dated February 2013 and provides the same name for the bank details. The sales are for 15 necklaces with a total sales value of £105. Also, a further letter dated 22 November 2012 shows the sale of jewellery to Godiva Boutique in Edinburgh. A PayPal receipt to Lilybeth King dated 24 March 2011 for a purchase of 'Antiqued gold PEACE SIGN circle charms' is also provided.

30. Exhibit LK9 also provides a number of invoices from other parties selling goods to Ms King. These include honey products from the Edinburgh Honey Co. in November 2019; pencils from Katie Leamon in February 2018 and beauty products from Saxon Stories to Ms King in October 2017. These are not examples of sales made by Ms

King under the name LILY KING, but they do illustrate the kinds of goods which she stocked for sale on her website and in her retail store from 2017 onwards.

31. Also under Exhibit LK9, a further invoice dated 31 March 2011, shows the purchase by Ms King of the domain name Lily-King.com.

32. Exhibit LK12 shows that jewellery from Lily King was available on Etsy in April 2013. The mark at issue is shown and 561 sales of Ms King's goods appear to have been made on Etsy.

33. Exhibit LK13 relates to the use of social media by Ms King and her company. It shows that a 'Lily King' Facebook page was created in June 2015. Goods such as clothing and glassware are on show, and it appears that the page had 1867 followers at the time this exhibit was produced. An image of the mark is shown on a shop front. Further it is shown that there were 337,471 Google page views of the 'lilyking.co.uk' website at time the exhibit was produced, and an Instagram account had 5,537 followers of 'lilykinglondon', which is listed as an independent lifestyle and gift store.

34. Also provided within Exhibit LK13 a 'Myshopify' overview dashboard of Lily King sales shows that between 29 June 2017 and 22 July 2020, Ms King received £28,424.64 worth of sales through her online store with more than 40,000 online visitors during that time.

35. Exhibit LK15 provides several invoices from Ms King to customers spread fairly widely geographically across the UK. These invoices show use of the name LILY KING and cover the period 2013 to 2017. All of these invoices relate to sales of jewellery items by Ms King.

36. Ms King also provides evidence by way of the witness statement of Mr Andrew Hawley dated 5 October 2021. Mr Hawley is a Trade Mark attorney working for Marks & Clerk LLP, who represent Ms King in this matter.

37. The subject of Mr Hawley's witness statement and the exhibits provided thereto (ASH1-ASH-12) centre on the activities of Louise Clinch and the alleged behaviours that it is suggested amount to bad faith.

38. Mr Hawley states that based on his investigations, Ms Clinch started using the term 'Lily king' as part of the term 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction' in 2013. He states that this contradicts the claim of Ms Clinch that she began using the name LILY KING in 2009. Mr Hawley asserts that extracts in Exhibit ASH1 show that Ms Clinch has been using the strapline 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction' for a number of years in respect of wedding services. He submits that it is only recently that Ms Clinch filed trade mark applications for LILY KING and LILY KING LONDON, which appear to have been made in bad faith, as a result of her becoming aware of his client Ms King, and the reputation and goodwill that Ms King has built up in her LILY KING brand.

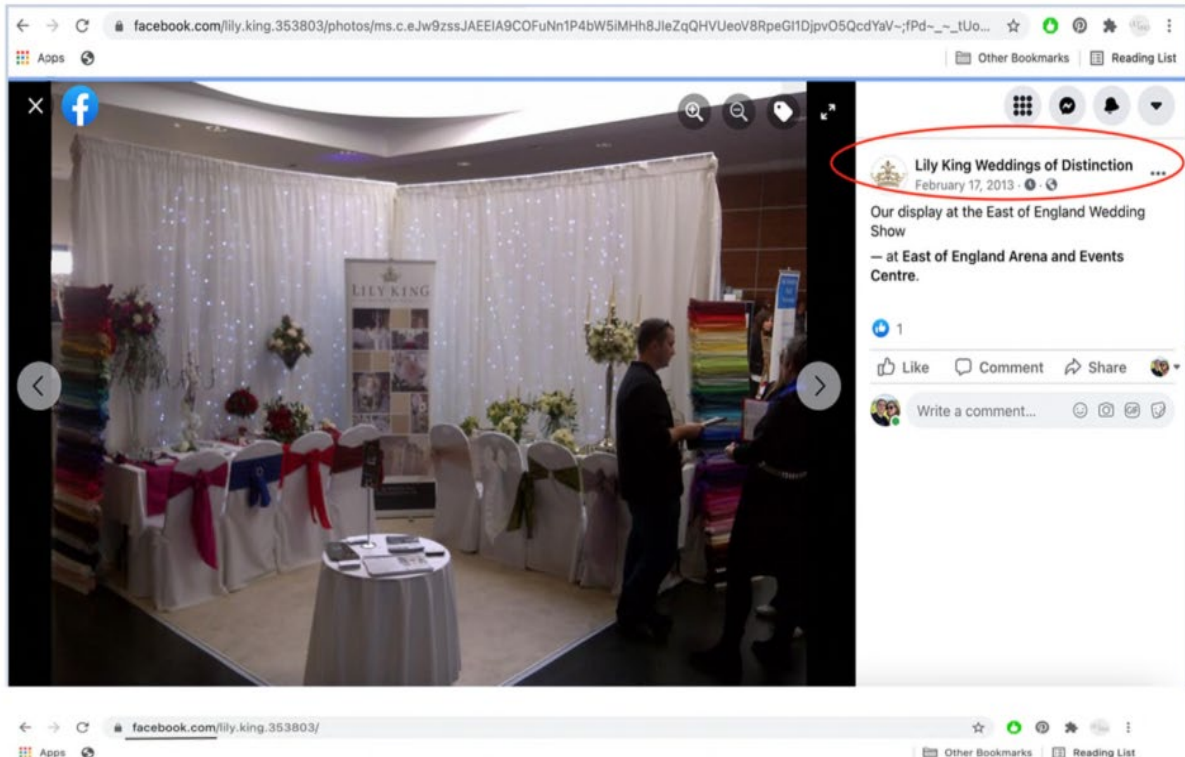

39. Mr Hawley submits that Ms Clinch operated a business called Stamford Linens until around 2013 whereupon she changed the name of her business to 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction'. He provides various information which he states details the transition. Mr Hawley claims that Ms Clinch's new logo was created to appear almost identical to his clients LILY KING logo and provides examples under Exhibit ASH5. He submits that Ms Clinch was entirely focussed on wedding services and products associated with weddings until expanding into the same area of business as his client at the same time that she changed her business name. He notes that Stamford Linens is still operating as a business, although in combination with 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction'.

40. Mr Hawley suggests that as the core business of Ms Clinch was, and seems always to have been, wedding services, the expansion into other goods and services, under the Lily King name was undertaken in bad faith and to benefit from the goodwill accrued by his client in that name.

41. Exhibits ASH11 and ASH12 provide evidence, Mr Hawley claims, of actual misrepresentation and confusion in the marketplace, involving two customers of Ms King.

42. Finally, Mr Hawley, in paragraph 20 of his witness statement, states that Ms Clinch has clearly attempted to link her business with that of his client, by filing applications for the marks LILY KING and LILY KING LONDON when "all the evidence annexed to this Witness Statement shows that the Applicant's brand in use is 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction'".

43. Careful examination of Mr Hawley’s evidence shows that Exhibit ASH1 provides a Facebook extract dated 17 February 2013. The page is titled ‘Lily King Weddings of Distinction’. The extract looks like this:

44. A pop-up banner in the centre rear of this image displays the name LILY KING quite prominently. This image is taken from a display stand of Ms Clinch’s company at the East of England Wedding show.

45. In the same Exhibit a further extract from the same Facebook page shows that in July 2017 Ms Clinch was “evolving into new areas” and was “SELLING absolutely EVERYTHING for your wedding/interior/pretty things...”. This appears to be a move away from the rental market and into retailing of wedding related products.

46. In an extract from MYCHOICEMATTERS.ORG.AU, the same message about ‘evolution of business’ is displayed however this is dated August 2020 which suggests to me that the transition away from rental services was not a particularly speedy process. A further extract from ‘openinghours.guru’ dated 28 August 2021 provides a description of ‘Lily King Weddings of Distinction’ as a business. It looks like this:

48. A further extract from Exhibit ASH1 provides the following information from the 'misterwhat.co.uk' website, on which a search for florists in Stamford has been performed. The result of that search reveals that a 'Lily King in Stamford' was operating a business called Lily King, from The Cottage, Markhams Yard, Ryhall Road, Stamford. It also shows that the owner is a Louise Clinch and that the business was established in 2009. That extract is this:

Blockstones

49. This information suggests that Ms Clinch has been trading under the name Lily King since at least 2009, albeit in the floristry business.

50. Further information provided under ASH1 shows that a 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction' Facebook page was created on 17 January 2013. A Twitter page titled 'Lily King Weddings' with a Twitter handle of @LilyKingWeddings states that "Lily King are an event design company who delight in realising your ideas from start to immaculate finish: floristry, chair covers, lighting & much much more!". The Twitter page had at that time 474 followers and was created (joined) in January 2013.

51. Much is made of the fact that Ms Clinch is also the owner of a company called Stamford Linen. Mr Hawley also notes that this company is still operating, often in combination it would seem, with Lily King Weddings of Distinction. An extract from Exhibit ASH2 provides an image from the 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction' Facebook page dated 24 January 2013, with a display table against which a display board is propped. The top line of the display board clearly establishes that Stamford Linen and Lily King are connected. That display board looks like this:

52. Exhibit ASH5 provides information relating to the LinkedIn profile of Ms Clinch, in which it is shown that Louise Clinch is the 'CE' at Lily King London and has been from November 2012 until the present. It also shows that she was the Creative Director and Owner of Lily King Weddings between April 2008 and November 2012. This information appears to be undated, however.

53. Exhibit ASH10 provides an extract titled 'First Enterprise – Enterprise Loans', dated 10 April 2015, which looks like this:

Growing business Lily King Wedding Design is celebrating in style this weekend as it celebrates five years of business with a networking event. Read about how we supported owner Louise at the beginning. <http://mag.lincsbusiness.co/issue24/15/>

54. From this information, provided by Mr Hawley on behalf of Ms King, it seems to be the case that Ms Clinch was celebrating five years of business as 'Lily King Wedding Design', corroborated by First Enterprise who supported the business from the beginning. This information appears to suggest that Ms Clinch has been operating a wedding design business using the name Lily King, since at least April 2010.

55. The Witness Statements of Ms Littler and Ms Speed-Andrews, set out under Exhibits ASH11 and ASH12, which provide examples of confusion in the marketplace, are unsurprising given the identity or high similarity in the names and logos being used by the parties and the relatively close geographical location of the parties.

Evidence of Ms Clinch

56. Evidence in reply was submitted and comprised the first witness statement of Louise Clinch dated 6 December 2021, with exhibits LC1 – LC12.

57. In her witness statement, Ms Clinch states that she is the founder of her brand LILY KING under which she has been trading since 2009. Dismissing the claims of Mr Hawley as to the extent of her business activities, Ms Clinch, at paragraphs 8 and 9 of her witness statement, claims that her business has offered a variety of goods and services that are much broader than the 'wedding services' suggested by Mr Hawley. Those goods and services included: providing floristry, hire services, décor and event planning services and the selling of an extensive product line containing stationery, soft furnishings, interior pieces, luxury candles, trinkets, brooches, printed materials, haberdashery, jewellery and home fragrances and items commonly associated with luxury retailers. Ms Clinch states that she has provided all of these services since 2009 under the trading name 'Lily King' with the words 'Weddings of Distinction' used only as a 'tag line'.

58. Exhibit LC1 provides photographs of the front of Ms Clinch's retail store, which she claims was opened in 2010.

59. Referring to the evidence that has been provided by Ms King, Ms Clinch states that the awards for which Ms King's business has been nominated all fall in 2019 and do not therefore indicate goodwill established over a period of time. The advertising activities of Ms King's business appears to have reached only a very small audience, Ms Clinch claims, referring to the Gola interview (which was in relation to jewellery only) and the Google Ads report which showed that over a 5-year period Ms King's campaign resulted in "a mere 830 clicks onto her website".

60. Ms Clinch states that despite the alleged marketing, advertisement and social media presence of Ms King's business, she "only made £282,000 over a ten-year period and, in the first 7 years, on average made less than £22,000 each year. This represents minimal profit and certainly not enough to generate sufficient goodwill". Ms Clinch also notes that initially much of Ms King's business was focussed only on jewellery.

61. Ms Clinch states that evidence from Ms King that products were offered for sale in three online marketplaces including Etsy, is not evidence of goodwill, especially without evidence of actual sales taking place. Ms Clinch makes further statements regarding sales, advertising and social media presence of Ms King, which I have noted.

62. Ms Clinch asserts that, as Ms King has stated that her business was entirely focussed on jewellery until 2017, any goodwill prior to 2017 can only be in respect of jewellery and in nothing wider. Ms Clinch goes on to state that she has prior unregistered rights in the name 'Lily King' as she has been trading using that name since 2009. She adds that her business has received many positive reviews and has been the subject of articles in publications nationally including a feature in the Burghley House Wedding Show 2012. Ms Clinch states that her business has also been acknowledged for its excellent services and product offerings as a recommended retailer through numerous awards including the following: Mercury Business Awards 2013 (Best in Start Up); Mercury Business Awards 2015 (Small Business of the Year) and I Do Wedding Awards finalist 2017.

63. Ms Clinch states that as her business grew, in 2012 she purchased the domain name lily-king.co.uk in 2012 to develop her online platform. In 2016 she also purchased the domain name lily-king-stationery.co.uk.

64. Exhibit LC1 and LC2 provide Google images dated 2016 and 2017 of the exterior and interior of Ms Clinch's 'Lily King' retail store. It appears to show use as a florist shop but also seems to offer associated products including candles and candelabra; ornaments, cups and saucers, vases, bowls and containers. These items are also explicitly listed in a price list provided under Exhibit LC3. The text 'valid until 31st October 2009' can be seen at the head of one of the price lists.

65. Exhibit LC3 also provides images of a scented diffuser in a box/package, in which a person holding these goods partially obscures some of the text on the boxes. The words LILY and KING can, however, be made out. In her submissions, Ms Keating has suggested that this was a deliberate attempt to hide something.

66. Exhibit LC3 also provides invoices that show that from 2013, Ms Clinch was operating under the name Lily King providing goods associated with a florist, e.g. flowers, stationery, ribbon and Christmas wreaths. Further invoices support Ms Clinch in her claim that she often used Lily King as the trading name with the tag-line

'Weddings of Distinction' placed in a secondary position. Cards and other stationery items that might be used in conjunction with florist services can be seen with the Lily King logo that Ms Clinch's business uses. That logo looks like this:

67. Exhibit LC5 provides some evidence of the awards and media attention to which Ms Clinch refers in her witness statement. Notably, in an article from the Stamford Mercury dated 10 April 2015, under the News/Business section, it is shown that Ms Clinch is recognised for the successful development of her business, one which according to the article, was set up in 2010 as 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction', so named after her great grandmother. It also reports that Ms Clinch was supported by the First Enterprise Business Agency with a £15,000 loan. This information is given in Ms Clinch's witness statement and is also provided under the evidence of Mr Hawley.

68. Provided within Exhibit LC9 there are three witness statements from Diane Westbrook, Maddalena Risi and Paul Campbell, who all attest to knowing Ms Clinch and being aware of her 'LILY KING' business and its location on Ryhall Road since 2010/2011. Exhibit LC10 comprises a number of 'thank you' cards and messages from customers to 'Lily King'. These cards and letters are all wedding related, i.e. regarding the flowers, table decorations, event design etc. provided by Ms Clinch's business to customers for their weddings, under the 'Lily King' brand name. Not all are clearly dated or reference the name Lily King, but a number do and it is clear that Ms Clinch was providing these services under the name since at least 2014 and that they were generally well received.

69. Exhibit LC12 provides a letter from the bank Santander, dated 22 September 2020. This evidence provoked a great deal of discussion during the procedural rounds and as a result of the allegations of tampering made by Ms Keating, I directed at the CMC held in August 2022, that the original letter be sent to the IPO offices, so that I could inspect it carefully. The original was provided by Ms Clinch and was available to Ms King's representatives for inspection also. The scanned version of that letter looks like this:

70. Exhibit LC12 also provides an image of a bank card in the name LILY KING which shows a 'valid from' date of 10/13.

71. Exhibit LC12 also provides an extract showing Ms Clinch's entry into the UK Wedding Awards in which she states that her LILY KING business offers a bespoke service in weddings and events, from designing and then creating: bridal bouquets, centrepieces, reception décor, flowers and an extensive collection of decorative items for hire. She also lists wedding stationery, linen and chair covers. The year 2009 is referred to as the beginning of the business venture.

Further Evidence on behalf of Ms King

72. On 18 March 2022 Ms King filed evidence in reply to that of Ms Clinch, which took the form of a second witness statement of Lily King with exhibits LK16 – LK25, and a witness statement of Claire Keating of Marks & Clerk LLP along with exhibits CK1 – CK9.

73. In her second witness statement Ms King states that Ms Clinch's assessment of her evidence is flawed, for example in her analysis of the Google Ads report submitted by Ms King, which Ms Clinch states resulted in 830 clicks (Ms King refutes this and claims this figure is actually 884). Ms King states that the 884 'clicks' resulted in the ads being displayed to more than 360,000 internet users.

74. Ms King provides a number of exhibits in support of her case, refuting the claims made by Ms Clinch. I do not intend to summarise all of this information in detail here, but I have considered all of it very carefully.

75. Exhibit LK24 provides a copy of a letter from Ms King's bank confirming that her account was opened in the name of LILY KING in May 2011 and that it has remained in that name throughout the history of the account. That letter looks like this:

76. In her witness statement, Ms Keating establishes that she is a Trade Mark Attorney working for Marks & Clerk LLP who are representing Ms King. Ms Keating makes a number of claims and allegations concerning the evidence that Ms Clinch has submitted. I do not intend to summarise this information in detail, but I have carefully examined Ms Keating's statement and the evidence that she provides in support of her claims. Notably, Ms Keating asserts that:

- Ms Clinch tampered with a letter from her bank Santander (which is provided under Exhibit LC12 and can be seen above under paragraph 69).
- That Google images of the property in which Ms Clinch claims she established her business in 2010, dating from 2010 and 2018, show firstly a different business entity occupying the premises in 2010, and secondly an unoccupied property in 2018.
- That Ms Clinch has purposefully hidden information on photographs of packaging of products that she supplied under her business, to disguise the text 'Est 2012' which appears between the words LILY and KING on images provided under Exhibit LC3. Ms Keating provides information about this under Exhibit CK1.

77. Essentially, Ms Keating has provided evidence which she strongly argues, suggests that Ms Clinch has been untruthful in her evidence and has tampered with parts of that evidence in a deceptive manner. These are very serious allegations which were not followed up with a request to cross-examine Ms Clinch in order to establish the veracity of her evidence. That being the case, at the CMC held on 31 August 2022, I agreed that Ms Clinch be allowed a further opportunity to provide written submissions and evidence, to comment on and rebut the allegations made by Ms Keating. I made it very clear however, that this was not an opportunity to file new evidential material generally.

Further Evidence from Ms Clinch

78. In her second witness statement, Ms Clinch addresses the allegations made by Ms Keating. Regarding the letter from Santander, which Ms Keating suggests has been tampered with, Ms Clinch states that she requested the letter following receipt of the form TM7A and the threat of opposition, as a means of proving when she had begun trading as Lily King. She offered, and subsequently provided, the original version of that letter, which I have very carefully examined.

79. Regarding the Google images of the property referred to as The Cottage, Ryhall Road in Stamford, where Ms Clinch first established her business, Ms Clinch notes that the images provided by Ms Keating under Exhibit CK2 show the property in March 2010 and in October 2018. In her defence Ms Clinch states that she began trading from that property in April 2010 and had moved out of the same property before October 2018.

80. Regarding the matter of the text 'Est 2012' which Ms Keating has shown was used on the packaging of some products supplied by Ms Clinch, and on an Instagram account which appears to be defunct or abandoned, Ms Clinch explains this by saying that 2012 was a milestone for her personally, in which she divorced her husband after an abusive relationship and finally took control of her business. Under Exhibit LC13 Ms Clinch provides a letter dated 23 July 2012, showing her divorce decree.

81. Ms Keating also raised a number of other issues, including the claim that Ms Clinch appears, at times, to have lived some distance from Stamford, where her business was located, and queried the relationship between Ms Clinch's companies Stamford Linens and Lily King Weddings of Distinction. I do not propose to summarise these issues here but will deal with them later in this decision.

82. This concludes my summary of the evidence from both parties.

Decision

83. I will begin my decision by considering the actions brought by Ms King under section 5(4)(a) of the Act.

Section 5(4)(a)

84. Section 5(4)(a) of the Act states:

“A trade mark shall not be registered if, or to the extent that, its use in the United Kingdom is liable to be prevented –

(a) by virtue of any rule or law (in particular, the law of passing off) protecting an unregistered trade mark or other sign used in the course of trade, where the condition in subsection 4(A) is met ...”

Subsection 4(A) is as follows:

“The condition mentioned in subsection (4)(a) is that the rights to the unregistered trade mark or other sign were acquired prior to the date of application for registration of the trade mark or date of the priority claimed for that application.”

85. In Discount Outlet v Feel Good UK, [2017] EWHC 1400 IPEC, Her Honour Judge Melissa Clarke, sitting as a deputy Judge of the High Court, conveniently summarised the essential requirements of the law of passing off as follows:

“55. The elements necessary to reach a finding of passing off are the ‘classical trinity’ of that tort as described by Lord Oliver in the Jif Lemon case (Reckitt & Colman Product v Borden [1990] 1 WLR 491 HL, [1990] RPC 341, HL), namely goodwill or reputation; misrepresentation leading to deception or a likelihood of deception; and damage resulting from the misrepresentation. The burden is on the Claimants to satisfy me of all three limbs.

56. In relation to deception, the court must assess whether "a substantial number" of the Claimants' customers or potential customers are deceived, but it is not necessary to show that all or even most of them are deceived (per Interflora Inc v Marks and Spencer Plc [2012] EWCA Civ 1501, [2013] FSR 21)."

86. Halsbury's Laws of England Vol. 97A (2021 reissue) provides further guidance with regard to establishing the likelihood of deception. In paragraph 636 it is noted (with footnotes omitted) that:

"Establishing a likelihood of deception generally requires the presence of two factual elements:

(1) that a name, mark or other distinctive indicium used by the claimant has acquired a reputation among a relevant class of persons; and

(2) that members of that class will mistakenly infer from the defendant's use of a name, mark or other indicium which is the same or sufficiently similar that the defendant's goods or business are from the same source or are connected.

While it is helpful to think of these two factual elements as two successive hurdles which the claimant must surmount, consideration of these two aspects cannot be completely separated from each other.

The question whether deception is likely is one for the court, which will have regard to:

(a) the nature and extent of the reputation relied upon,

(b) the closeness or otherwise of the respective fields of activity in which the claimant and the defendant carry on business;

(c) the similarity of the mark, name etc used by the defendant to that of the claimant;

(d) the manner in which the defendant makes use of the name, mark etc complained of and collateral factors; and

(e) the manner in which the particular trade is carried on, the class of persons who it is alleged is likely to be deceived and all other surrounding circumstances.

In assessing whether deception is likely, the court attaches importance to the question whether the defendant can be shown to have acted with a fraudulent intent, although a fraudulent intent is not a necessary part of the cause of action.”

Relevant Date

87. In Advanced Perimeter Systems v Multisys Computers Limited, BL O-410-11, Mr Daniel Alexander Q.C. (as he then was), sitting as the Appointed Person, quoted with approval the summary made by Mr Allan James, acting for the Registrar, in SWORDERS Trade Mark, BL O/212/06:

“Strictly, the relevant date for assessing whether s.5(4)(a) applies is always the date of the application for registration or, if there is a priority date, that date: see Article 4 of Directive 89/104. However, where the applicant has used the mark before the date of the application it is necessary to consider what the position would have been at the date of the start of the behaviour complained about, and then to assess whether the position would have been any different at the later date when the application was made.”¹

88. Ms Clinch claims to have used the mark LILY KING since 2009, which is significantly earlier than the respective dates of application of the two marks being contested. In her evidence she submits that she has used the name LILY KING as part of the strapline ‘Lily King Weddings of Distinction’ since 2009, and appears to have established, in evidence, use of the name since at least 2010.

89. This claim appears to be supported by Ms King’s representative Mr Hawley, as elements of his evidence show that Ms Clinch has been using the name for some time. For example, Exhibit ASH10 provides a press article dated April 2015 which shows that Ms Clinch, supported financially by First Enterprise, celebrated five years in business trading under the name 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction'. This piece of evidence, which was provided by both parties, serves to suggest that Ms Clinch has been trading in the name 'Lily King Weddings of Distinction' since April 2010 at least.

90. I am satisfied that the body of evidence provided by Ms Clinch is sufficient to prove that she has been using the name LILY KING, either independently or as part of the 'strapline' Lily King Weddings of Distinction, since at least 2010, for the purposes of providing wedding planning services, floristry services, and the rental or sale of items associated with such services, such as table decorations and buttonholes. In her evidence, Ms Clinch shows that she purchased the domain name 'lily-king.co.uk' in 2012. She provides sales invoices relating to floristry and associated items such as ribbons and cards, which are dated from 2013 onwards, and under Exhibit LC9 she provides witness statements from three people who attest to being aware of Ms Clinch and her 'Lily King' retail outlet on Ryhall Road from 2010 in one instance, and 2011 in the other two cases.

91. Regarding the allegations of Ms Keating as to the veracity of Ms Clinch's evidence, I find these allegations to be almost entirely without merit. Firstly, I have the original version of the letter from Santander bank which Ms Clinch provides under Exhibit LC12, and having carefully examined this letter, using lights and even a magnifying glass, I can see absolutely no sign of any tampering with this document. I accept that the scanned version of LC12, which is set out above, looks somewhat warped or 'wonky', however I attribute this to the document perhaps not being laid completely flat when it was scanned. I can confirm that the original letter appears, on very close scrutiny, to be as it should be, with no sign at all of any changes having been made. I note that Ms King's representatives were given the opportunity to inspect the original document at the IPO offices but did not request to do so.

92. Turning to the Google images provided by Ms Keating, of the shop front in Ryhall Road dated from March 2010 and 2018, which she claims show that Ms Clinch's 'Lily King' shop was not trading at the property at those times, Ms Clinch has answered this point adequately in my view. Ms Clinch states she took up residence in that property in April 2010, after the date of the earlier image, which squares with the evidence she has provided, and had given up the property by 2018.

93. The allegation made by Ms Keating as to the use of the term 'Est 2012' on packaging of some products sold by Ms Clinch and on a seemingly defunct Instagram account is slightly concerning, however the explanation given by Ms Clinch, supported by evidence proving that she was formally divorced in 2012 thereby 'escaping an abusive relationship', is not entirely unreasonable. As Ms Keating suggests, it does seem somewhat odd to market your business as established in 2012 if that business had in fact been launched in 2009 or 2010. That said, I do not dismiss the explanation given by Ms Clinch entirely in this regard, as I find that it is plausible.

94. On a related note, much has been made of the fact that Ms Clinch appears to have traded under the name Stamford Linens, and there has been a suggestion that this was in fact the name of her business until she changed it to adopt the Lily King name later. I find this position untenable. It is clear from evidence provided by Ms Clinch and Mr Hawley, that Ms Clinch has used the names together and separately for some time and it is perfectly normal business behaviour, and certainly entirely legal, to operate more than one business at the same time, and for those businesses to have different names.

95. Having concluded that the explanations she provides in her rebuttal of Ms Keating's allegations are perfectly sound and reasonable, I find that the evidence provided by Ms Clinch is truthful and should be given due weight.

96. What is clear from Ms Clinch's evidence, however, is that whilst her contested marks cover a very wide-ranging set of goods and services, she does not offer all of them in trade. In fact, the evidence provided, including sales invoices and marketing/media information, appear to support my conclusion that Ms Clinch provides wedding planning services and goods associated with those services, most notably flowers and table decorations. Certainly, it is the case that Ms Clinch only provided those goods and services in the earliest years of her business and none of the evidence before me serves to establish a business which provides or intends to provide the full range of goods and services set out in the specifications of goods and services under both of the contested marks.

97. Based on the evidence submitted by Ms Clinch which is, in part, supported by evidence from Mr Hawley, I conclude that the relevant dates for the purposes of the opposition and invalidation actions are April 2010.

Goodwill

98. Ms King must show that she had goodwill in a business at the relevant dates and that the mark relied upon is associated with, or distinctive of, that business.

99. Ms King claims to have used the mark 'LILY KING' throughout the UK since 2011 in respect of the following goods and services:

Lifestyle boutique and gift shop services supplying a range of goods such as cosmetics, cosmetic accessories, clothing, footwear, headgear, bags, food and drink, jewellery and stationery (for the purposes of the cancellation action).

AND

Jewellery, candles, fashion accessories, greetings cards, and homeware (for the purposes of the opposition).

"What is goodwill? It is a thing very easy to describe, very difficult to define. It is the benefit and advantages of the good name, reputation and connection of a business. It is the attractive force which brings in custom. It is the one thing which distinguishes an old-established business from a new business at its first start. The goodwill of a business must emanate from a particular centre or source. However widely extended or diffused its influence may be, goodwill is worth nothing unless it has the power of attraction sufficient to bring customers home to the source from which it emanates."

101. In South Cone Incorporated v Jack Bessant, Dominic Greensmith, Kenwyn House and Gary Stringer (a partnership) [2002] RPC 19 (HC), Pumfrey J. stated:

“27. There is one major problem in assessing a passing off claim on paper, as will normally happen in the Registry. This is the cogency of the evidence of reputation and its extent. It seems to me that in any case in which this ground of opposition is raised the registrar is entitled to be presented with evidence which at least raises a prima facie case that the opponent's reputation extends to the goods comprised in the applicant's specification of goods. The requirements of the objection itself are considerably more stringent than the enquiry under s.11 of the 1938 Act (see Smith Hayden & Co. Ltd's Application (OVAX) (1946) 63 R.P.C. 97 as qualified by BALI Trade Mark [1969] R.P.C. 472). Thus, the evidence will include evidence from the trade as to reputation; evidence as to the manner in which the goods are traded or the services supplied; and so on.

28. Evidence of reputation comes primarily from the trade and the public and will be supported by evidence of the extent of use. To be useful, the evidence must be directed to the relevant date. Once raised, the applicant must rebut the prima facie case. Obviously, he does not need to show that passing off will not occur, but he must produce sufficient cogent evidence to satisfy the hearing officer that it is not shown on the balance of probabilities that passing off will occur.”

102. However, in Minimax GmbH & Co KG v Chubb Fire Limited [2008] EWHC 1960 (Pat) Floyd J. (as he then was) stated that:

“[The above] observations are obviously intended as helpful guidelines as to the way in which a person relying on section 5(4)(a) can raise a case to be answered of passing off. I do not understand Pumfrey J to be laying down any absolute requirements as to the nature of evidence which needs to be filed in every case. The essential is that the evidence should show, at least prima facie, that the opponent's reputation extends to the goods comprised in the application in the applicant's specification of goods. It must also do so as of the relevant date, which is, at least in the first instance, the date of application.”

103. In Smart Planet Technologies, Inc. v Rajinda Sharm [BL O/304/20], Mr Thomas Mitcheson KC, as the Appointed Person, reviewed the following authorities about the establishment of goodwill for the purposes of passing-off: Starbucks (HK) Ltd v British Sky Broadcasting Group Plc [2015] UKSC 31, paragraph 52, Reckitt & Colman Product v Borden [1990] RPC 341, HL and Erven Warnink B.V. v. J. Townend & Sons (Hull) Ltd [1980] R.P.C. 31. After reviewing these authorities Mr Mitcheson concluded that:

“.. a successful claimant in a passing off claim needs to demonstrate more than nominal goodwill. It needs to demonstrate significant or substantial goodwill and at the very least sufficient goodwill to be able to conclude that there would be substantial damage on the basis of the misrepresentation relied upon.”

104. Ms King’s evidence establishes that she began selling jewellery in 2011 and broadened her business in 2017 to include other goods such as gifts, face masks, kimonos and bikinis, footwear and household items such as candles and mugs. It shows that she sold her jewellery online initially, opening a traditional bricks and mortar retail outlet later.

105. Having carefully considered the evidence provided by Ms King and her representatives, I find that she has proven that she holds a goodwill insofar as jewellery is concerned. She has also established that this goodwill can be claimed from 2011. The evidence does not persuade me however, that, when taking account of the relevant case law set out above, the goodwill in Ms King’s business extends further than jewellery. All evidence of sales of goods other than jewellery are dated from 2017 at the earliest and are for only very minimal quantities of products amounting to very low sales values. I believe that any goodwill or reputation that Ms King can be said to enjoy can only be in respect of jewellery.

106. I have found therefore, that both parties have been using the name LILY KING as a key element in the names of their respective businesses since 2010 and 2011.

107. In Advanced Perimeter Systems Limited v Multisys Computers Limited, BL O-410-11, Mr Daniel Alexander KC as the Appointed Person considered the relevant date for the purposes of section 5(4)(a) where both of the parties have used the mark at issue prior to the date of the application to register the contested marks. He explained that:

“41. There are at least three ways in which such use may have an impact. The underlying principles were summarised by Geoffrey Hobbs KC sitting as the Appointed Person in Croom’s TM [2005] RPC 2 at [46] (omitting case references):

- (a) The right to protection conferred upon senior users at common law;
- (b) The common law rule that the legitimacy of the junior user’s mark in issue must normally be determined as of the date of its inception;
- (c) The potential for co-existence to be permitted in accordance with equitable principles.

42. As to (b), it is well-established in English law in cases going back 30 years that the date for assessing whether a claimant has sufficient goodwill to maintain an action for passing off is the time of the first actual or threatened act of passing off: J.C. Penney Inc. v. Penneys Ltd. [1975] FSR 367; Cadbury-Schweppes Pty Ltd v. The Pub Squash Co. Ltd [1981] RPC 429 (PC); Barnsley Brewery Company Ltd. v. RBNB [1997] FSR 462; Inter Lotto (UK) Ltd. v. Camelot Group plc [2003] EWCA Civ 1132 [2004] 1 WLR 955: “date of commencement of the conduct complained of”. If there was no right to prevent passing off at that date, ordinarily there will be no right to do so at the later date of application.

108. In Smart Planet Technologies, Inc. v Rajinda Sharma [BL O/304/20], Mr Thomas Mitcheson KC also pointed out that “the start of the behaviour complained about” is not the same as the date that the user of the applied-for mark acquired the right to protect it under the law of passing off. Rather, it is the date that the user of that mark committed the first external act about which the other party could have complained (if it knew about it) as an act of actual or threatened passing off. Typically, this will be the date when first offer was made to market relevant goods or services under the mark. However, it could also be the date the first public-facing indication was made that sales were proposed to be made under the mark in future. If the user of the applied-for mark was not passing off at the time such use commenced (usually because no one else had acquired a protectable goodwill under a conflicting mark at that time), he or she will not normally be passing off by continuing to use the mark. This means that if A starts to use a mark, and continues to use it in the same way, he or she will not be passing off as B, even if B acquires a protectable goodwill under the same or similar mark before A does.

109. In W.S. Foster & Son Limited v Brooks Brothers UK Limited, [2013] EWPC 18 (PCC), Iain Purvis KC sitting as a Deputy Judge set out the following test for whether honest concurrent use provides a defence in a passing off action:

“61. The authorities therefore seem to me to establish that a defence of honest concurrent use in a passing off action requires at least the following conditions to be satisfied:

(i) the first use of the sign complained of in the United Kingdom by the Defendant or his predecessor in title must have been entirely legitimate (not itself an act of passing off);

(ii) by the time of the acts alleged to amount to passing off, the Defendant or his predecessor in title must have made sufficient use of the sign complained of to establish a protectable goodwill of his own;

(iii) the acts alleged to amount to passing off must not be materially different from the way in which the Defendant had previously carried on business when the sign was originally and legitimately used, the test for materiality being that the difference will significantly increase the likelihood of deception.”

110. It seems clear to me that the action of Ms Clinch in respect of the ‘relevant goods and services’ does amount to passing off. The first use made of the name LILY KING by Ms Clinch has been shown to have been in 2010 although she has claimed use from 2009. That use was entirely legitimate in respect of her wedding services business, and for the reasons given for the selection of that name. In 2010 Ms King did not enjoy a goodwill in business through use of the name LILY KING. She makes no claim to have used the name prior to 2011. In the event that I am found to be wrong as to the date of first use of the name by Ms Clinch, it is certainly the case that she purchased the domain name Lily-King.co.uk in 2012, which establishes without doubt evidence of the use being made of that name by her within 12 months of the first use by Ms King. It is clear however, that the use made of the name by Ms Clinch is materially different at the date of application for both contested marks, from the way in which she carried on her business in 2010 from the Ryhall Road property, specifically in the scope of her business interests. Ms Clinch has shown that she has used the name LILY KING as a major part of her branding on wedding services, floristry services and associated goods and services e.g. table decorations, wedding decorations and buttonholes. She has not however, shown any use of the name on many of the goods and services for which her marks are either registered or applied for.

111. Having established that Ms King enjoys goodwill in a business that makes and sells jewellery and that Ms Clinch has proven earlier use of the name LILY KING but only in respect of quite disparate goods and services, I must go on to consider the matter of misrepresentation and damage.

112. It seems to be the position of both parties that the question of misrepresentation is a moot point in this instance. I concur. The marks at issue are essentially LILY KING/LILY KING LONDON on one side and LILY KING on the other. I find that the inclusion of the word LONDON and the use of the name LILLY in place of LILY make no real difference to the question of whether the marks of Ms Clinch would constitute a misrepresentation of Ms King's brand. It is clear that with the identity or near identity/addition of a non-distinctive geographical location between the marks at issue, the relevant public would assume the marks are the same or from a linked undertaking.

113. Turning then to the issue of damage, I find that in respect of many of the goods covered within the class 14 element of Ms Clinch's registration and application, damage will occur either in the form of lost sales when consumers purchase jewellery and closely related items from Ms Clinch's business, assuming that they are in fact purchasing from Ms King; and/or reputationally, as Ms King has established that she has a reputation for quality products and, if this quality were not to be matched by goods sold by Ms Clinch's business, that reputation would be likely to suffer. There are however many other goods within both class 14 specifications which I find to be quite distinct from the goods that Ms King has been shown to have a reputation or goodwill in.

114. I find that my conclusion regarding damage also applies to some of the class 35 services provided under both contested marks, specifically all of the retail services provided in respect of jewellery, which both of Ms Clinch's marks include. The class 14 goods which I find to be objectionable within the contested marks can be found listed under Annex B of this decision. For clarity, Annex C provides lists of the class 14 goods within the contested marks that are not objectionable.

115. In respect of the remaining goods and services under the contested marks, I do not accept that the goodwill which Ms King enjoys in her jewellery business extends to any of those goods or services. Transitory confusion, also called 'initial interest confusion', caused by a misrepresentation does not amount to passing-off unless damage is caused (or likely to be caused) to the claimant's goodwill. His Honour Judge Hacon described the position as follows in his judgment in Moroccanoil Israel Ltd v Aldi Stores Ltd [2014] EWHC 1686 (IPEC):

"25 It seems to me that Och-Ziff and Woolley are judgments entirely consistent with one another. If a customer makes an initial false assumption as to a trade connection between the claimant's and defendant's goods but that assumption is dispelled before any purchase is made and as a consequence the claimant suffers no damage, there is no passing off (see Woolley). Damage remains one of the three essential ingredients of the tort.

26 In Och-Ziff there was goodwill and a likelihood of a false assumption as to trade origin on the part of the relevant public; there was no likelihood of a direct pecuniary loss but Arnold J inferred a probability of other damage. This was therefore passing off of the conventional sort."

116. Therefore I conclude that the opposition and cancellation actions brought by Ms King under section 5(4)(a) have been partially successful, but only in respect of some of the goods within the class 14 specifications under both contested marks, and in respect of the following class 35 services:

Application 3593812

Class 35: Online retail services relating to jewelry; retail services relating to jewelry; retail services in relation to jewellery.

Registration 3514985

Class 35: Online retail services relating to jewelry; retail services relating to jewelry; retail services in relation to jewellery; retail services in relation to time instruments.

117. I now move on to consider the opposition and cancellation actions brought under section 3(6) and the claim of bad faith.

Section 3(6)

118. Section 3(6) of the Act states:

“(6) A trade mark shall not be registered if or to the extent that the application is made in bad faith.”

119. In an invalidation matter Section 47 of the Act also applies. Section 47 states:

“47. (1) The registration of a trade mark may be declared invalid on the ground that the trade mark was registered in breach of section 3 or any of the provisions referred to in that section (absolute grounds for refusal of registration).”

120. The relevant case-law covering trade mark applications made in bad faith can be found in the following cases: Chocoladefabriken Lindt & Sprüngli, CJEU, Case C-529/07, Malaysia Dairy Industries, CJEU, Case C-320/12, Koton, CJEU, Case C-104/18P, Sky v Skykick, CJEU, Case C-371/18, Hotel Cipriani SRL and others v Cipriani (Grosvenor Street) Limited and others, [2009] RPC 9 (approved by the Court of Appeal in England and Wales: [2010] RPC 16), Trump International Limited v DDTM Operations LLC, [2019] EWHC 769 (Ch), Copernicus-Trademarks v EUIPO, General Court of the EU, Case T-82/14, Daawat Trade Mark, The Appointed Person, [2003] RPC 11, Saxon Trade Mark, [2003] EWHC 295 (Ch), Mouldpro ApS v EUIPO, General Court of the EU, Case T-796/17, Alexander Trade Mark, The Appointed Person, BL O/036/18, Red Bull GmbH v Sun Mark Limited and Sea Air & Land Forwarding Limited [2012] EWHC 1929 (Ch) and Sky v Skykick [2020] EWHC, 990 (Ch).

121. The following points are apparent from the pre-Sky case-law about registering trade marks in bad faith:

- (a) Although it may be a relevant factor, the mere fact that the applicant knew that another party was using the trade mark in another territory does not establish bad faith: Malaysia Dairy Industries.
- (b) Similarly, the mere fact that the applicant knew that another party used the trade mark in the UK does not establish bad faith: Lindt, Koton (paragraph 55). The applicant may have reasonably believed that it was entitled to apply to register the mark, e.g. where there had been honest concurrent use of the marks: Hotel Cipriani.
- (c) However, an application to register a mark is likely to have been filed in bad faith where the applicant knew that a third party used the mark in the UK, or had reason to believe that it may wish to do so in future, and intended to use the trade mark registration to extract payment/consideration from the third party, e.g. to lever a UK licence from an overseas trader: Daawat, or to gain an unfair advantage by exploiting the reputation of a well-known name: Trump International Limited.

122. An application may also have been filed in bad faith where the applicant acted in breach of a general duty of trust as regards the interests of another party, including his or her own (ex) company or (ex) partners, or a party with whom there is, or had recently been, a contractual or pre-contractual relationship, such as a licensor, prospective licensor or overseas principal: Saxon, Mouldpro; or where a legal agreement prohibits such a filing.

122. The correct approach to the assessment of bad faith claims is as follows. According to Alexander Trade Mark, the key questions for determination in such a case are:

- (a) What, in concrete terms, was the objective that the applicant has been accused of pursuing?
- (b) Was that an objective for the purposes of which the contested application could not be properly filed? and

(c) Was it established that the contested application was filed in pursuit of that objective?

123. The applicant's intention (i.e. objective) is a subjective factor which must be determined objectively by the competent authority. An overall assessment is required, which must take account of all the factual circumstances relevant to the particular case: Lindt.

124. The matter must be judged at the relevant date, which is the date of the application for registration: Lindt.

125. It is necessary to ascertain what the applicant knew at the relevant date: Red Bull. Evidence about subsequent events may be relevant, if it casts light backwards on the position at the relevant date: Hotel Cipriani.

126. A statement on the application form that the mark is in use, or there is a bona fide intention to use it may, if untrue, provide evidence supporting a bad faith case, but is not sufficient by itself to justify the refusal or cancellation of the registration: Sky CJEU.

127. An allegation of bad faith is a serious allegation which must be distinctly proved, but in deciding whether it has been proved, the usual civil evidence standard applies (i.e. balance of probability). This means that it is not enough to establish facts which are as consistent with good faith as bad faith: Red Bull.

128. Bad faith has been defined as dishonest behaviour and dealings falling short of the standards of acceptable commercial behaviour observed by reasonable and experienced men in the particular area (Gromax Plasticulture Ltd v Don & Low Nonwovens Ltd [1999] RPC 367 at 379). In Red Bull v Sun Mark, it was emphasised that convincing evidence of bad faith is required due to the seriousness of the allegation ((Red Bull GmbH v Sun Mark Ltd and Sea Air & Land Forwarding Ltd) [2012] EWHC 1929 (Ch) at 133).

129. In Chocoladefabriken Lindt & Sprüngli AG v Franz Hauswirth GmbH, Case C-529/07, the CJEU stated that:

“46.....the fact that a third party has long used a sign for an identical or similar product capable of being confused with the mark applied for and that that sign enjoys some degree of legal protection is one of the factors relevant to the determination of whether the applicant was acting in bad faith”.

47. In such a case, the applicant’s sole aim in taking advantage of the rights conferred by a Community trade mark might be to compete unfairly with a competitor who is using the sign which, because of characteristics of its own, has by that time obtained some degree of legal protection.

48. That said, it cannot be excluded that even in such circumstances, and in particular when several producers were using, on the market, identical or similar signs for identical or similar products capable of being confused with the sign for which registration is sought, the applicant’s registration of the sign may be in pursuit of a legitimate objective.

49. That may in particular be the case.....where the applicant knows, when filing the application for registration, that a third party, who is a newcomer in the market, is trying to take advantage of that sign by copying its presentation, and the applicant seeks to register the sign with a view to preventing use of that presentation.

50. Moreover.....the nature of the mark applied for may also be relevant to determining whether the applicant is acting in bad faith. In a case where the sign for which registration is sought consists of the entire shape and presentation of a product, the fact that the applicant is acting in bad faith might more readily be established where the competitor’s freedom to choose the shape of a product and its presentation is restricted by technical or commercial factors, so that the trade mark proprietor is able to prevent his competitors not merely from using an identical or similar sign, but also from marketing comparable products.

51. Furthermore, in order to determine whether the applicant is acting in bad faith, consideration may be given to the extent of the reputation enjoyed by the sign at the time when the application for registration as a Community trade mark is filed.

52. The extent of that reputation might justify the applicant's interest in ensuring wider legal protection for his sign."

130. The prima facie case put forward by Ms King is fairly basic and relies essentially on a claim that Ms Clinch knew about Ms King's business or ought to have known about it when she applied for her trade marks. Ms King also claimed that Ms Clinch sought registration of the contested marks in order to fraudulently represent herself as a provider of LILY KING branded products, however there is no evidence whatsoever from Ms King that shows that Ms Clinch was aware of her business at the time that she made her applications. No substantive evidence of bad faith has been submitted by Ms King or her representatives, and the challenge under section 3(6) appears to amount to no more than a statement, or an assumption on the part of Ms King, that Ms Clinch has acted in bad faith.

131. I remind myself of the Lindt and Hotel Cipriani decisions where it was determined that "the mere fact that the applicant knew that another party used the trade mark in the UK does not establish bad faith" and "The applicant may have reasonably believed that it was entitled to apply to register the mark, e.g. where there had been honest concurrent use of the marks". It has been established that Ms Clinch began using the name LILY KING in 2010 at least, although she claims that in fact it was as early as 2009. Due to a complete lack of evidence to support the claim of bad faith and having therefore concluded that no reasonable prima facie case has been established by Ms King, I dismiss the opposition and cancellation actions entirely insofar as they are based on section 3(6).

Conclusion

132. The opposition and invalidation actions have been partially successful under section 5(4)(a) and have failed entirely under section 3(6).

133. Subject to an appeal to this decision, contested application 3593912 will be registered for all of the goods and services applied for in classes 3, 4, 14, 16, 18, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 28 and 34. It will also proceed for the class 35 specification of services, with the exception of those retail services set out in paragraph 116 above, and in respect of the class 14 goods listed in Annex C of this decision.

134. Contested registration 3514985 will remain on the register for all of the goods and services it covers in classes 3, 4, 14, 16, 18, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26 and 34. It will also retain all of the class 35 services it covers, with the exception of those services set out above in paragraph 116 of this decision. It will also retain the class 14 goods set out in Annex C of this decision.

135. For clarity, Annex B of this decision sets out those goods within class 14 of both contested marks that I have found to be caught under section 5(4)(a), and which must therefore be removed or refused from Ms Clinch's marks - in addition to those class 35 services which I have set out in paragraph 116 above.

COSTS

136. Ms Clinch has achieved a far greater measure of success than Ms King and is therefore entitled to an award of costs. In this regard a schedule of costs was submitted by the representatives of Ms Clinch, and Mr Hall provided submissions on the matter during the Hearing. I have considered this issue very carefully and conclude that off-sale costs are not applicable here. Whilst I appreciate the complexity that arose during the later procedural rounds, and I am fully aware and alive to the frustrations of Ms Clinch due to the nature of the allegations of Ms Keating (allegations that I have found to be almost entirely unfounded), I do not accept that the rather large figures proposed by Ms Clinch's representatives are appropriate. It is also the case that in some part, Ms King has been successful and found to be in a position to protect her established jewellery business. The actions brought against Ms Clinch were not therefore entirely without merit.

137. Awards of costs in proceedings are governed by Annex A of Tribunal Practice Notice ("TPN") 2 of 2016. Applying said TPN as a guide, I award costs to Ms Clinch on the following basis:

Preparing a statement and considering the other side's statement:	£500
Preparing evidence and considering the other side's evidence:	£1000

Preparing for and attending a Hearing: £1200

Total: £2700

138. I hereby order Lilybeth King t/a Lily King to pay to Louise Clinch the sum of £2700. This sum is to be paid within 21 days of the expiry of the appeal period or within 21 days of the final determination of this case if any appeal against this decision is unsuccessful.

Dated this 23rd day of January 2023
